

Chapter 144-5

After Lin Luoxi left, Xu Qingzhu kept pondering her words.

—You have to figure out what you want.

Xu Qingzhu thought: what she wanted was Liang Shi's wholehearted love.

Just let her be this greedy.

But she always felt that her current emotions were out of control, and it wasn't entirely related to her heat period.

She had gone through heat periods before, but she had never had these kinds of feelings.

These emotions kept spreading, giving her the feeling that something in her mind was constantly pulling at her.

So much so that she would occasionally have very dangerous thoughts—maybe she should just separate from Liang Shi.

Perhaps she would meet someone better in the future.

But after her rationality returned, she would always find those thoughts completely unreasonable.

As if they weren't thoughts she had come up with herself.

The battle between emotion and reason in her mind left her exhausted in both body and mind.

Lin Luoxi was right—she was indeed fragile and sensitive right now.

Yet her emotions were often pulled to extremes, as if there was a voice in the depths telling her: you should separate from Liang Shi; she isn't the most suitable person for you.

Xu Qingzhu always had to use strong willpower to resist, but occasionally she would still be swept up by these emotions.

It was just that the moment she thought about separating, she felt so sad she could barely breathe.

One night, because she was swept up by her emotions but was also afraid of waking the sleeping Liang Shi, she buried herself under the blanket and cried until she almost couldn't breathe.

This was a terrifying thing.

But Liang Shi didn't know at the time.

While she was still lost in her random thoughts, there was a knock on her office door.

The secretary came in and handed her a stack of documents, then reported her schedule for tomorrow. After pausing for a moment, she said: "President Xu, the Qin family is holding a charity gala next Saturday. Will you be attending?"

Xu Qingzhu paused slightly. "The Qin family that does exports?"

"Yes."

Xu Qingzhu thought for a moment: "I'll go."

"Will you be bringing a family member?" the secretary asked.

After a long while, Xu Qingzhu slowly shook her head: "No."

After saying that, she lowered her eyes, her voice very cold. "Does that side have a requirement to bring a companion?"

The secretary nodded: "It wasn't explicitly stated, but they gave two invitation cards."

"I understand." Xu Qingzhu said: "Leave the invitation on the desk. I'll attend when the time comes."

The secretary handed it over, and Xu Qingzhu opened it to look.

On the gilded invitation, the signature read: Qin Lishuang.
