

Chapter 154-7

//

This night was full of one incident after another.

Liang Shi took Xu Qingzhu to the hospital for a checkup first, and only went home after confirming nothing was wrong.

By the time they got home, it was almost one in the morning.

She sent messages to everyone to let them know they were safe, and only then did she sit on the edge of the bed to rest.

Setting aside the original female lead's filter, Lu Jiayi was actually a very good person.

Knowing that Xu Qingzhu was married, she hadn't made any inappropriate moves toward Xu Qingzhu.

But everything she did was invisibly building goodwill.

And in front of her, Liang Shi was always one step behind.

This was the powerful influence of the plot.

But if she calmed down and carefully analyzed the logic of tonight's events.

Almost all the causes were different from before.

In the original plotline, Xu Qingzhu went to attend the banquet, accidentally stepped on her dress and tripped, falling into the water. Lu Jiayi happened to be socializing by the swimming pool, so she saved her.

After saving her, the two chatted for a while and eventually exchanged contact information.

That was their first meeting.

But tonight's situation was: because of Liang Shi's presence, Qin Lishuang noticed Xu Qingzhu, then drugged Xu Qingzhu, causing Xu Qingzhu—who could swim—to nearly drown in the water. And because Liang Shi was far away, Lu Jiayi still got there first.

The original owner couldn't swim, but she could.

Yet at the time, she had also nearly drowned in the water. This was probably the effect of the world's laws correcting themselves.

In other words, even if all the preconditions changed, the major events would still occur.

The system had reminded her of this issue back then—under the butterfly effect, all the minor details could be altered, but major events were bound to happen.

Unstoppably, unavoidably bound to happen.

This was the law by which this world operated.

Liang Shi suddenly felt a deep sense of powerlessness.

This meant she and Xu Qingzhu were definitely going to divorce. Even if she avoided the original turning points, the original timeline, and disrupted the original plans, they would still divorce.

If they didn't divorce, the harm would be transferred to her, herself, and Lu Jiayi—the three of them would randomly bear the harm, just like the incident with Chen Liuying before.

Until the harm satisfied the balance laws applicable to all planar worlds.

Once that balance point was reached, then this event wouldn't need to fully occur.

Liang Shi lay beside Xu Qingzhu, raising her hand to carefully trace over her brows and eyes.

Her fingers fell on the bridge of her nose, then she slowly leaned down and placed a kiss on her lips.

She kept thinking, let's try again.

Maybe there would be a turning point.

Liang Shi held her tight and closed her aching eyes.
