

Chapter 184 Part 1: Extra Story 7-1

After everyone left, Liang Shi accompanied Chaochao and Mumu to wash up, then went back to the room to tell them bedtime stories.

Mumu, who had been disciplined today, was especially well-behaved. Her eyes darted around as she listened to Liang Shi tell the story, and she wasn't as eager to ask questions as usual.

That night, Liang Shi told a fairy tale about a child who bullied a classmate and grew a long nose, only returning to normal after apologizing to the classmate.

This fairy tale was also made up by Liang Shi on the spot.

Yet it scared Mumu terribly. She hugged her sister's arm and looked at Liang Shi with an aggrieved expression.

But Liang Shi didn't go soft. She only said gently: "Tomorrow we'll see if Mumu turns into a long nose."

Mumu: "....."

Xu Qingzhu stood at the doorway, laughing silently.

She had thought Liang Shi was really so indulgent that she couldn't say a single harsh word.

Turns out she could still gently "threaten."

That was pretty good too.

Liang Shi only returned to the room after coaxing the two children to sleep. The moment she opened the door, she found Xu Qingzhu sitting on the bed reading a book.

This was Xu Qingzhu's bedtime habit.

A few days ago she had been reading a suspense novel, and the two of them had even read it together, even making bets on who the culprit was.

Liang Shi saw she had flipped to the back and asked: "Did you see? Who's the culprit?"

But hearing this, Xu Qingzhu suddenly raised her head eerily, her gaze like fire.

Those bright eyes stared straight at Liang Shi, giving Liang Shi goosebumps all over her back. "What's wrong? Why are you looking at me like that? Even if I guessed wrong, it's not that serious, is it?"

Xu Qingzhu slowly shook her head without saying anything.

Liang Shi pursed her lips and walked over to her. She rested her arm beside Xu Qingzhu, bending over while standing at the bedside, her upper body leaning forward, looking straight at Xu Qingzhu: "Who's the culprit?"

"You—guess." Xu Qingzhu slightly parted her lips.

Liang Shi lowered her head to look at the book, only to discover that Xu Qingzhu hadn't been reading the book at all.

Tucked inside the novel, opened up, was her new script.

The company's self-produced sweet drama that she had taken on per fans' requests, "Listening to the Wind Say I Love You."

Liang Shi had also only gotten this script not long ago and had only read up to the second episode.

It was indeed a new era sweet drama with a particularly fast pace.

First episode: kissing. Second episode: going to bed. Then eight episodes of extreme push and pull. Final two episodes: releasing the sweetness.

It could be called a textbook idol drama.

However, aside from the more explicit content in episodes one and two, there weren't many kiss scenes afterward. The sweet parts were all accomplished through subtle hints, plus some sweet nothings.

This was Liang Shi's first time taking on such an explicit drama, but based on the current platform's censorship standards, it probably wouldn't be filmed too excessively.

She had read two episodes and put the script in the drawer, not expecting Xu Qingzhu to find it.

Thinking about the scenes inside, she felt inexplicably guilty.

Liang Shi blinked and reached out to take the script, but Xu Qingzhu pressed down on it firmly without budging, blinking at her, "What? Can't I look?"

"You can....." Liang Shi said helplessly.

Xu Qingzhu lowered her head and continued reading, very seriously.

"Is this your next script?" Xu Qingzhu asked.

Liang Shi took off her shoes and got on the bed, sitting on Xu Qingzhu's legs with her own legs dangling. She leaned her body forward, lying on Xu Qingzhu as if acting cute. "Yes." As she spoke, she kissed her chin: "Baby, stop reading the script, look at me instead."

"Hm?" Xu Qingzhu raised an eyebrow.

Liang Shi: "....."

"Your next drama is an idol drama?" Xu Qingzhu's tone was a bit sour.

Liang Shi nodded: "Mm... I can act in it, right?"

"You've already taken it and now you're asking me?" Xu Qingzhu laughed lightly: "Is my opinion that important?"

Liang Shi: "....."

"This script... is pretty good." Liang Shi said: "The character is a bit crazy, and also has a bit of a split personality... I want to challenge myself."

"I don't manage that anyway." Xu Qingzhu closed her own book and set it on the table, only keeping the script to flip through. "Take whatever drama you want to take. You're an actress—you need to be professional."

Liang Shi: "....."

She somehow felt there was something behind Xu Qingzhu's words.

But Liang Shi leaned over and kissed her face again. Both her legs were already stretched out, putting almost half her body weight on Xu Qingzhu, yet Xu Qingzhu remained unmoved, continuing to read the script with her head down.

"Stop reading the script." Liang Shi reached out to take the script from her hands, but Xu Qingzhu raised her hand. Liang Shi grabbed at nothing, and since she had no real support to begin with and was afraid of crushing Xu Qingzhu, she had been holding back her strength. Suddenly thrown off by this move, her body immediately lost balance, and her chin came crashing down heavily, landing right on Xu Qingzhu's soft chest.

It hurt so much that Xu Qingzhu gasped.

Liang Shi: "....."

Liang Shi reached out to rub it for her, but Xu Qingzhu swatted her hand away.

Liang Shi pouted and rolled over to lie beside her.

"Is this script that good?" Liang Shi asked somewhat sourly.

Xu Qingzhu nodded: "It's alright."

Liang Shi sighed. Her hand had already reached from under the covers to Xu Qingzhu's pajama buttons, deftly undoing one.

But Xu Qingzhu suddenly said: "Let me run lines with you."

Liang Shi: "?"

"Let go of me." Xu Qingzhu said the lines from the script with a frown: "You're hurting me."

"Tell me where Wei Shuang is." Liang Shi got into character in one second, her tone fierce.

"That's not right." Xu Qingzhu corrected her: "You need to grab my chin."

Liang Shi raised her hand, two fingers gently pinching.

Xu Qingzhu continued correcting, "Not like that, use some force."

Liang Shi frowned slightly: "Your skin is already sensitive. If I use more force, it'll turn red."

"So what if it turns a little red." Xu Qingzhu raised an eyebrow: "When you're on set, are you going to worry about the actress's skin condition too?"

Liang Shi: "....."

"Teacher Liang, you're not cutting it." Xu Qingzhu shrugged: "Where's your professional spirit?"

Liang Shi: "....."

It was just an instant—Liang Shi's eyes changed, and she used force in her hand. But her expression was that roguish type, carrying a hint of casualness.

Those eyes were utterly cold and heartless. No one would doubt what she might do the next second.

Even if she killed the other person, even if she crushed their chin—it would all be expected.

Xu Qingzhu felt the pain and her eyes reddened in an instant.
