

Chapter 2-2

With the changing times, Omega suppressants had developed into various types. There were injectable ones and oral ones, with different methods of use and different effects.

And Xu Qingzhu needed the strongest type.

The more beautiful an Omega, the harder their heat period was to endure, requiring the most potent suppressants to subdue their heat period.

The nurses asked worriedly, "Are you really okay? You also look..."

"It's fine." Liang Shi shook her head, saying anxiously: "She's upstairs, go save her first."

"Don't you need suppressants?" the nurse inquired.

"Take care of her first, don't worry about me." Liang Shi felt her body being constantly drained, her strength nearly exhausted.

The nurses hurried upstairs. When they passed the second floor and saw the mess all over the floor, they all frowned, but quickly returned to normal. They went upstairs and knocked on the door, "Hello, we are nurses from Haichuan First People's Hospital. May we come in?"

Xu Qingzhu in the room had no hope in Liang Shi at all.

She still thought this was Liang Shi's trick, so she shouted at the door: "Liang Shi, stop acting."

How could Liang Shi possibly call a doctor for her?

"Currently, concentrated suppressants are in short supply. We can only take you to the hospital quickly," the nurse said outside the door. "Sorry, we'll have to intrude first."

With that, they pushed open the door. In the dim room, the Omega lay there, and the rich Omega pheromone scent in the room made everyone momentarily bewildered.

Everyone looked over. The Omega on the bed had a cool temperament and beautiful appearance. Although her eyes were tinged with haziness, they were still clear and bright.

She was almost a once-in-a-century exceptional Omega.

"Hurry up." Someone snapped back to attention, "The Omega pheromone concentration in the room is too high. Contact the hospital urgently, prepare the rarest heavy-scented suppressants, and arrange a hospital room immediately."

Xu Qingzhu was puzzled, not expecting that Liang Shi had actually found doctors for her.

Had she changed her strategy?

But no matter what, Xu Qingzhu had decided to divorce Liang Shi.

She didn't want to live with such a moody person anymore. It was too terrifying.

Hiding all the suppressants in the house during an Omega's heat period - this was wanting her to die.

Having made up her mind, Xu Qingzhu saw Liang Shi when she went downstairs.

Her long hair was wet, her dress clinging gracefully to her body, her heavy nightclub-style makeup looking very alluring, but her expression was serious, with a layer of sweat seeping from her forehead.

This was a completely different Liang Shi from usual.

But Xu Qingzhu couldn't care about much else. When passing by Liang Shi, she said coldly: "Let's get divorced."

Liang Shi frowned slightly, then acted as if she hadn't heard anything, instructing the nurses: "Make sure to give her suppressants."

Tears fell from Xu Qingzhu's eyes as she turned her face away, "You don't need to be hypocritical."

Liang Shi pressed her lips together, smiling bitterly. She knew that no matter what she said, there was no way to make Xu Qingzhu change her mind, but she only sought to have a clear conscience.

She looked at the nurses and said sincerely: "Please make sure she's okay."

After Liang Shi finished speaking, her vision went black and she lost consciousness.

She suddenly collapsed to the ground.
