

Chapter 30-7 Translation

//

Liang Shi had been feeling quite prepared last night, worried that Xu Qingzhu might have something come up the next day that would cause the task to be overdue. But unexpectedly, at the crucial moment, it was she who ended up in the hospital. Because she couldn't be exposed to wind, the movie tickets she had bought were also wasted.

After sending off Xu Qingya, Xu Qingzhu came back and went upstairs to see Bai Weiwei.

Bai Weiwei's condition wasn't very good. Chen Liuying had gone out to work.

She sat alone in the hospital room reading, much quieter than usual.

Xu Qingzhu chatted with her for a while, but no matter what she said, Bai Weiwei's expression remained indifferent, looking quite melancholic.

Xu Qingzhu also asked if she had broken up with Chen Liuying, but she only remained silent for a moment before gently shaking her head.

Xu Qingzhu frowned, really wanting to tell her that Chen Liuying wasn't a good match. If they weren't truly in love to the point of being inseparable, it would be better to cut things off quickly rather than face a messy situation later.

One was an agent, the other an artist—their professions were already quite different.

Moreover, Chen Liuying had just debuted not long ago, and her marketed persona as "the nation's number one dominant Alpha¹" was being criticized, with constant opposing voices.

Added to this manager suicide incident, her reputation had plummeted, with everyone thinking she had used improper means to debut.

With Bai Weiwei hospitalized and the studio being ineffective, no one could handle the negative marketing, and Chen Liuying's resources were also being lost.

If this continued, the two would definitely have conflicts again.

Last time, when nothing had even happened, Chen Liuying was already yelling at Bai Weiwei. If they stayed together afterward, these issues would grow like thorns.

Making everyone unhappy.

But seeing Bai Weiwei's pale face and poor spirits, Xu Qingzhu didn't mention it, only comforting her: "Just take care of yourself."

"What about you?" Bai Weiwei asked her back. "Did Liang Shi bully you because of what happened last time?"

"No, why would she bully me?" Xu Qingzhu said. "She told me not to go to Huayue International² anymore, saying there are too many unspoken rules there that we don't know about. She also said if I had to go, I should call her."

Xu Qingzhu paused. "But I probably won't go anymore anyway. I looked into it afterward, and that place really isn't legitimate. You shouldn't go there anymore either. Liang Shi investigated that director—many of his works are just marketing hype, and most of his projects are invested in by Huaguang Group³. Since Liang Shi has cut ties with Cheng Ran, as my friend, you might get implicated or targeted if you go there. Cheng Ran is very petty."

"So you're saying our incident last time was because of Liang Shi?" Bai Weiwei quickly caught the subtle implication in these words. "Because Liang Shi cut ties with Cheng Ran, so Cheng Ran used us as targets to vent her anger?"

"Huh?" Xu Qingzhu was stunned. "I didn't say that. Wasn't last time because you were discussing business cooperation? Plus, I went because you invited me. It shouldn't have anything to do with Cheng Ran, right?"

"But you said Cheng Ran would target us because of Liang Shi." Bai Weiwei frowned, her tone turning cold. "I don't believe that incident last time had nothing to do with her."

Xu Qingzhu shook her head. "We haven't found too many connections so far, but we should learn from this experience. We should avoid such occasions if possible in the future, and even if we go, we shouldn't drink too much, otherwise..."

She let out a light breath. "If Liang Shi and Zhao Xuning hadn't arrived in time that night, the consequences would have been unthinkable."

"It would have been better if they hadn't come," Bai Weiwei said in a lowered voice, a flash of disgust in her eyes. "Too disgusting."

"What?" Xu Qingzhu was momentarily distracted and didn't hear her words.

Bai Weiwei immediately adjusted her state, leaning back and closing her eyes. "I'm tired."

"Alright." Seeing that she was truly exhausted, Xu Qingzhu stood up. "I'll leave first then. Rest well."

"Mm." Bai Weiwei's response was perfunctory.

Xu Qingzhu had originally wanted to swallow all her words, but seeing Bai Weiwei in this state made her worry, so she couldn't help but ask indirectly: "Weiwei, do you really love Chen Liuying very much?"

"It's okay, I guess. Why?" Bai Weiwei immediately shot her a sharp look. "Are you here to advise me to break up too?"

"No." Xu Qingzhu instinctively denied first, then caught the key word: "Too? Who else?"

"Zhao Xuning." Bai Weiwei smiled coldly. "She clearly doesn't like me, clearly can't forget her ex, yet still wants to advise me from a god-like perspective. Does she think she's great? Is she playing savior?"

Xu Qingzhu: "..."

She felt Bai Weiwei's state was very wrong.

"Weiwei, is there some misunderstanding between you and Dr. Zhao? I feel like you might be..."

Before Xu Qingzhu could finish, Bai Weiwei interrupted: "Misunderstanding? Ha."

Xu Qingzhu frowned. "Weiwei, don't get agitated. I'm just asking casually. And I think Dr. Zhao doesn't..."

"You think?" Bai Weiwei glared at her fiercely. "Miss Xu, can you please stop using 'you think' all the time? If your feelings are so accurate, how did you end up marrying a scumbag? Everyone knows she cheats and plays with women, treating you like a servant. I advised you so many times to divorce, why won't you? Can you use your supposedly accurate feelings to sense whether the current Liang Shi is pretending or real?"

"Weiwei..." Xu Qingzhu was afraid she'd get upset and didn't dare say more.

But Bai Weiwei laughed coldly. "Do you really think Liang Shi has changed for the better? You believe whatever she tells you? When have your feelings ever been useful? You're clearly living a mess yourself, so why are you still trying to manage my life?"

"I'm not." Xu Qingzhu explained patiently and helplessly. "Your dream is to be an excellent agent, but when you're in a relationship with an artist, it's hard to maintain professional rationality. You told me before that you would never date an artist, but now..."

"If you really love Chen Liuying very much, I won't advise you to break up. Your life is yours to experience. I have no right to interfere."

"Ha." Bai Weiwei's eyes reddened, filled with tears that formed into droplets and fell, which she wiped away with the back of her hand.

Xu Qingzhu panicked and immediately went forward to apologize. "Sorry, Weiwei, I said the wrong thing. Don't cry."

She pulled out some tissues and sat on the bedside to wipe Bai Weiwei's tears, but was pushed away.

"Xu Qingzhu." Bai Weiwei smiled coldly. "If you want to scold me, just scold me. There's no need to be so passive-aggressive."

"I'm not..."

"Right, I did fall in love with an artist, violating my professional principles. But at least Chen Liuying treats me well. She listens to all the plans I make for her, she's progressing step by step, and she never goes to find other women just because I won't sleep with her. If your feelings are so accurate, then why did you marry that scumbag Liang Shi?"

"Do you really think she's reformed? Hasn't she always been like this before? Bullying you harshly then coaxing you back, again and again. Are you now implying that I'm interfering with your life? I'm too stupid."

"I don't mean that." Xu Qingzhu was somewhat at a loss, sitting there handing tissues to Bai Weiwei.

Bai Weiwei didn't take them and lay down directly. "I don't need your fake sympathy."

"No," Xu Qingzhu said. "You're my best friend. How could I blame you? I know you're looking out for me."

"Get out. I don't want to hear it." Bai Weiwei said coldly.

Xu Qingzhu sighed lightly and asked in a serious tone: "Weiwei, can I know what happened that day?"

She didn't believe Bai Weiwei would become like this for no reason.

"Why do you want to know? You black out when you're drunk anyway and don't remember anything. Besides, it was your beloved Liang Shi who rescued you. You didn't suffer any loss, isn't that enough? You just came here to look down on me from your high horse and mock me, didn't you?"

"How could that be? Weiwei, we've known each other for so many years. Is that really what you think of me?" Xu Qingzhu said.

Bai Weiwei suddenly sat up and said decisively: "Yes. You've always been like this. You're noble, you're amazing, you're the high and mighty little princess. Everyone loves you, you're beautiful, people chase after you, everyone protects you. Are you satisfied?"

Xu Qingzhu: "..."

She stepped back, feeling bitter.

"Xu Qingzhu, you're just hypocritical." Bai Weiwei harshly berated her. "When I told you to divorce Liang Shi, you wouldn't. Now when it's my turn, you come to advise me to break up with Chen Liuying. You can tolerate even a scumbag like Liang Shi, so why do you have prejudice against Chen Liuying? At least she loves me."

"I have no prejudice against her," Xu Qingzhu said.

"You clearly just can't stand to see me happy!" Bai Weiwei said. "You want to know what happened to me that day? Fine, I'll tell you."

"When Zhao Xuning burst in that day, I had already been stripped naked by an Alpha, completely bare. I was in heat, lying there like a dog. I was even begging her, begging her to do it with me. She enjoyed watching my pitiful pleas. Zhao Xuning beat her up, so then I could only beg Zhao Xuning. What the hell was I!"

By the end, Bai Weiwei's emotions had completely collapsed.

Xu Qingzhu hugged her to comfort her. "I'm sorry, Weiwei."

"Go away." Bai Weiwei pushed her away forcefully, pushing Xu Qingzhu to the ground.

"Get lost," Bai Weiwei said. "I don't want to see you anymore."
