

Chapter 39-7

The livestream hadn't started yet. Various media outlets were still adjusting their equipment. From the videos that had already been revealed, the venue seemed quite grand and beautiful, better than in previous years.

Liang Shi switched out of the stream and sent Xu Qingzhu an emoji: 【Go for it.jpg】

Xu Qingzhu replied instantly: 【Received.jpg】

Then Xu Qingzhu sent: 【Teacher Liang, charge ahead!】

Liang Shi: 【...Okay.】

Meanwhile, the girls nearby began frantically discussing the person who had just passed by.

"Damn, my goddess is really so cool."

"Just standing there, I want to say, sleep with me!"

"Damn, it's broad daylight. Can you be a bit more reserved? But I also want to say, sister, sleep with me."

"Are you all crazy? There should be limits to idol worship. I heard she's having an ambiguous relationship with Zhao Ying."

Everyone fell silent in unison.

A few seconds later, they collectively attacked the person who spoke: "Are you crazy? Who doesn't know that Yang Shuyan's¹ fans and Zhao Ying's fans tear each other apart every day? Could those two be together?"

"The fans have already torn each other into a bloody sea. The celebrities themselves couldn't possibly step on their fans' corpses to date, right? That way they'd definitely lose countless fans."

"I don't believe it. Even if the sky falls and the earth collapses, Yang Shuyan could never be with Zhao Ying."

"If Yang Shuyan and Zhao Ying got together, then I think I could marry this beautiful woman too."

While speaking, she pointed at a girl's phone screen next to her, so everyone looked over in unison and saw a woman in a white suit and black tight-fitting base shirt on the screen. She had light makeup on, and just a gentle smile could tug at people's heartstrings.

The perfect combination of brightness and purity in her—she stood there as if she were a glowing entity.

No one wouldn't like her.

In an instant, everyone collectively gasped.

"Damn, I can do this. What kind of stunning beauty is this?"

"The kind that makes your heart race just by looking."

"I suddenly feel like my Sister Shuyan isn't as appealing anymore."

"Let me handle this. I've got my ID and household registration ready. I just need this beauty's contact information."

"..."

Everyone looked at her like she was crazy, and she silently lowered her head, then asked back with righteous indignation: "Don't you all want to?"

Everyone: "..."

Well, they did want to.

"She's married, okay?" Fortunately, someone remained rational, "Miss Xu from the Xu family. She was on trending topics once before, but it was quickly taken down. I heard she married the third miss of Dongheng Group."

"Today is another heartbreaking day." The person who had just been clamoring about having her ID and household registration ready now wilted, "Why are all the beautiful sisters taken by others?"

"But I heard she and Third Miss Liang don't get along after marriage and are about to divorce. You still have a chance."

That person's eyes suddenly brightened!

Liang Shi, who was watching Xu Qingzhu confidently facing the media and giving speeches on screen: "..."

Although... but...

Who said anything about divorce?

Liang Shi was dazed by this sudden gossip bombshell.

She even wanted to hide the Xu Qingzhu on screen.

"But it's true. If their relationship were harmonious, she wouldn't come out to work publicly. Wouldn't being the young mistress of Dongheng Group be better?" They began discussing again.

"Didn't my goddess just say? If she doesn't come out, Minghui will go bankrupt."

"But what use is her coming out? Could she really change the current situation single-handedly?"

"To be honest, my mom used to frequently buy Minghui products, but in recent years she's switched to Haiwei². No choice—Minghui's products have gotten uglier and uglier these past few years."

"Yeah, many celebrities don't use them anymore."

"..."

Liang Shi silently listened to their gossip, feeling mixed emotions inside. Looking at Xu Qingzhu on screen, she somehow detected a sense of "a hero's twilight, yet ambition undimmed" desolation.

She opened the livestream's comment section. Most comments said that Minghui Jewelry's new products this year definitely wouldn't work, and only this eldest daughter was worth watching, but after keeping people in suspense for so long, they had already worn out people's patience.

She never usually commented when watching livestreams or dramas, thinking it unnecessary.

But today, a sense of mission suddenly descended from heaven.

[Teacher Xu is so beautiful! Too gorgeous! Confident women are the best!]

[This year's Minghui will definitely bring us surprises!]

[Teacher Xu's outfit today is so beautiful. Such stylish clothes—I love them so much.]

[Jewelry chosen by someone with such good aesthetic sense will definitely be dazzling.]

[...]

She posted more than twenty comments in a row, almost all different.

In the past, when she was bored and couldn't sleep, she would open her Weibo comment section or her fan club to look at content posted by fans. She had seen those rainbow farts³, and although she hadn't completely memorized them, she remembered about seventy to eighty percent.

Now she used them all here.

Meanwhile, at the backstage of Minghui Jewelry's official livestream.

Sally looked at this account that kept posting comments and felt it looked familiar. She had a staff member click into the account's profile, and the account bio clearly read: Liang Shi.

Not even trying to hide it.

Sally was like she had discovered a new continent and immediately called Lin Luoxi over to look.

Lin Luoxi had originally found her annoying, but after seeing so many rainbow fart comments, she was both amused and exasperated.

For a moment, she didn't know whether to be shocked by Third Miss Liang's vocabulary or by how hard she was working to support her wife.

However, because of her influence, the comments below slowly increased.

Accounts began praising Xu Qingzhu's looks.

Zhou Yi'an, who had been sitting quietly in the corner, suddenly spoke up faintly: "Is that Liang Shi?"

Sally & Cherry: "..."

Sally said righteously: "Zhou Yi'an, if I were you, I would consciously withdraw from this war, because I know it's impossible to win. No matter how excellent you are, in Liang Shi's eyes, her most beloved is still Blanche."

"It doesn't matter." Zhou Yi'an put away her phone, her tone casual and languid, "As long as it's a fruit I like, whether it tastes good or not, as long as I can pluck it, I'm happy."

Sally: "..."

She turned to ask Cherry: "What does she mean?"

Lin Luoxi was speechless for a moment, then impatiently explained in English: "She will use any means necessary to insert herself into Blanche and Liang Shi's marriage."

Sally was indignant: "...This person! Stubborn and unrepentant!"

//

Liang Shi didn't yet know that she had already embarrassed herself in front of so many people. After posting dozens of comments consecutively...

Xu Qingzhu began displaying pictures of the autumn new products.

After each picture was displayed, it would be accompanied by the actual item.

Although Xu Qingzhu had been there for only a short time, in such a short period, she had completed an entire set of designs, coordinated the work to produce the actual items, and held the launch event on schedule.

Her execution ability was admirable enough.

Liang Shi was watching with great interest when a staff member called: "A376, A377."

Liang Shi reluctantly closed her phone and walked toward the audition room, but encountered Chen Liuying at the door.

As well as—Bai Weiwei.

Sigh, truly enemies on a narrow road⁴.

Liang Shi sighed in her heart.

Footnotes: ¹ Yang Shuyan: A famous actress character in this story's entertainment industry, apparently very popular ² Haiwei: Another jewelry brand mentioned as a competitor to Minghui ³ Rainbow farts (彩虹屁): Chinese internet slang for excessive praise or compliments, especially those given by fans to their idols ⁴ Enemies on a narrow road (冤家路窄): A Chinese idiom meaning that enemies or rivals are bound to meet in awkward situations