

Chapter 9-2

At this moment, Liang Shi couldn't focus on anything.

She just wanted to figure out what misfortune value was. Was it a curse from fate or had she done something wrong?

Why did she have to bear so much for no reason?

This garbage system.

Liang Shi cursed a few times in her heart, thinking about this matter so intently that she didn't hear Xu Qingzhu calling her.

Until Xu Qingzhu gently pushed her, "Give me your hand."

Only then did Liang Shi come back to her senses. She slowly extended her hand, saying in a low voice: "Sorry."

Xu Qingzhu's fingers holding her hand suddenly tightened, and she looked up at her thoughtfully.

Liang Shi was thinking about other things and didn't notice.

Xu Qingzhu then took out cotton swabs with an expressionless face to clean the blood from her palm.

The pain brought Liang Shi slightly back to her senses, and she lowered her head to look at the serious Xu Qingzhu.

Xu Qingzhu's technique for treating wounds was very professional, with just the right amount of pressure. It was clear she was someone who often treated wounds.

But Xu Qingzhu had loving parents and a good family background. Even when the Xu family enterprise was in crisis and on the verge of bankruptcy, her parents never let her suffer any grievance.

Marrying the original body was something Xu Qingzhu had actively proposed.

No matter how worthless the original body was, she wouldn't resort to domestic violence... right?

While Liang Shi was lost in wild thoughts, Xu Qingzhu suddenly asked: "What are you thinking about?"

"You seem very skilled at bandaging wounds." Liang Shi said what she was thinking.

Xu Qingzhu's hand paused, and she laughed very softly.

Her long hair hung by her face, the corners of her mouth curved in a pleased arc. Even though only her profile was visible, it was enough to make people fall for her.

Liang Shi was dazed for a moment, then thought: Truly worthy of being the novel's female lead.

"Is there something funny?" Liang Shi was afraid people would see through her face-obsessed<sup>1</sup> nature, so she cleared her throat.

Xu Qingzhu restrained her smile, her voice becoming cold again, "Nothing."

As soon as she finished speaking, that mechanical system voice suddenly rang in Liang Shi's mind:

【Misfortune value is a virtual value created by the Resentment Management Bureau to balance the ecosystem. The higher the value, the more severe the corresponding punishment. It triggers once when accumulated to multiples of 8, and additional punishment is given every three triggers, with no upper limit.】

Liang Shi: "?"

Liang Shi's heart was burning with anger when the system spoke again in a cheap voice: 【Host, please understand, we're all working people, it's not easy.】

"So what did I do wrong?" Liang Shi asked as calmly as possible: "Why was misfortune value triggered?"

This time the system didn't give a vague explanation like it did with luck points, but instead listed a clear itemized bill, like a supermarket receipt.

【Triggering Xu Qingzhu's PTSD<sup>2</sup> 5

Favoring Xu Qingya 1

Triggering Xu Qingzhu's grievance 1

Triggering Xu Qingzhu's anger 1

Note: Final interpretation rights belong to the Resentment Management Bureau】

Liang Shi: "....."

What kind of garbage system is this?!

"So as long as I make Xu Qingzhu angry, I'll accumulate resentment value?" Liang Shi asked coldly.

System: 【Theoretically speaking, yes.】

Liang Shi was fuming, and before she could speak, the system preemptively tried to soothe her:

【Don't worry, we're just following the rules. You can do whatever you want in the future.】

The system, knowing it was in the wrong, even started acting cute.

【As long as you do your tasks well, this punishment definitely won't happen a second time.】

"What if I don't?" Liang Shi countered.

System: 【...Give us a chance.】

Liang Shi: "?"

System: 【Your luck points have accumulated to ten. We'll immediately give you a small gift: 30,000 RMB.】

Liang Shi: ".....?"

Was this giving her a slap then a sweet treat?

Then her phone vibrated slightly, and sure enough, she received a bank transfer notification from an unknown account, with an attached message: 【Your performance has made your target very satisfied, please keep up the good work! ^-^】

Liang Shi was speechless. She just wanted to smash this system right now!

Screw your little emoticon.

Before she could ask more questions, the system had already fled: 【Other task performers are calling me, I'll go first, keep it up!】

"Keep up my ass." Liang Shi complained.

Meanwhile, Xu Qingzhu, who was helping her bandage the wound, had just tied the final knot of the bandage, even tying it in a bow shape.

It didn't quite match the strong Alpha temperament.

Looking at her target's face, Liang Shi seemed to... calm down her anger a little bit.

But unexpectedly, Xu Qingzhu suddenly raised her head, looking directly at her, red lips slightly parted, "You..."

She paused, the corners of her mouth curving into a smile. Although it was a rhetorical question, she said it with certainty: "You're not Liang Shi, are you?"

---

Footnotes: <sup>1</sup> Face-obsessed: "颜控" (yán kòng) - Internet slang referring to someone who is attracted to or judges people primarily based on their appearance/looks <sup>2</sup> PTSD: Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder, referring to Xu Qingzhu's trauma from being kidnapped as mentioned in the synopsis