

Chapter 92-3

//

That "good night" was said so tenderly that even after Xu Qingzhu returned to her room, the sound still echoed in her ears.

Meanwhile, Liang Shi still sat in the living room, holding the paper with Xu Qingzhu's analysis. Her fingertips rubbed across the paper surface as she lowered her brows and eyes in contemplation.

She speculated that if Gu Xingyue was being confined, she should be locked in that basement from when they were children.

Dark and sunless, with some implements for hitting people hanging on the walls.

But Liang Shi didn't remember the location of the basement. She only knew it was a basement.

Tomorrow she could only go to the kindergarten under the pretext of visiting the children.

While Liang Shi was lost in thought, her phone vibrated slightly. She picked it up and discovered it was a message from Gu Yixue.

Gu Yixue had sent a ten-second voice message.

After seeing it, Liang Shi felt a bit nervous, as if she was going to an interview. She held the phone to her ear before pressing play.

As a result, the volume was too high, startling her with a shudder.

She didn't hear what Gu Yixue said at all. Instead, she hurriedly lowered the volume.

Just as she finished adjusting it and was about to play it again, the master bedroom door suddenly opened. Xu Qingzhu stood in the doorway, her voice lazy: "Teacher Liang, do we have guests at home?"

Liang Shi: "?"

She was confused. "No."

Xu Qingzhu leaned against the doorframe. "Then why is there a woman's voice?"

Liang Shi: "....."

Xu Qingzhu said: "It sounds quite nice."

Liang Shi: "....."

After going around three bends, she finally understood what Xu Qingzhu meant. She held up her phone to show her the screen. "It's the director I added yesterday contacting me. It should be about the production. Do you want to listen together?"

Xu Qingzhu shook her head: "It's your work, you handle it."

Liang Shi detected danger from her indifferent voice. In her mind suddenly floated the memory of last night when Xu Qingzhu asked her in an especially alluring voice, "Am I prettier or... is Quella prettier?"

Xu Qingzhu sounded very nice when she spoke English, with a hint of coquettishness.

The fragrance from her hair tips made Liang Shi lose focus.

And at this moment, Liang Shi suddenly said: "Does her voice sound nice?"

Xu Qingzhu nodded: "It sounds nice. I like it."

Liang Shi: "....."

"I don't like it." Liang Shi said seriously. "I think Teacher Xu's voice sounds better than this."

Xu Qingzhu: "....."

After the initial shock, Xu Qingzhu leaned her head against the door and smiled with curved lips. Those beautiful eyes looked upward, and her curved eyes were full of scattered light. "Teacher Liang, when did you learn to sweet-talk?"

Liang Shi seriously defended herself: "These are all sincere words."

Xu Qingzhu looked at her frivolously, her face saying five words—Do you think I believe you?

Regardless of whether Xu Qingzhu believed it or not, Liang Shi had in any case recovered her long-lost survival instinct.

She wanted to hear the voice message Gu Yixue sent. Her heart itched with wanting to know what Gu Yixue said, whether she was directly handing her an excellent script. When searching online, it said that Gu Yixue was about to film "Heart's Path," which was about the love of idealists.

Currently in the preparation stage.

Liang Shi had her eye on this. Even if they didn't pay her, she'd be fine playing a small role.

After all, being able to guest star in a famous director's production would directly raise her status after filming.

Moreover, a good script was hard to come by.

But with Xu Qingzhu standing there, Liang Shi wanted her to hear it but also didn't want her to hear it.

After all, Gu Yixue's voice was quite... sexy.

And Xu Qingzhu had even said she liked her voice.

After hesitating for a moment, Liang Shi called Xu Qingzhu over.

Xu Qingzhu crossed her arms and leaned against the door, asking airily: "What for?"

Liang Shi said: "Sit with me for a while."

Then she converted Gu Yixue's voice message to text. Just then, Xu Qingzhu sat on the sofa as if she had no bones, looking somewhat sleepy. Her eyes were half-closed, and the hair that had just been tied up was already messy. A few strands stood up in the air due to static electricity, messy yet orderly.

Liang Shi handed over her phone. The machine-translated text read: [Hello? I'm awake now. Are you asleep? Let's chat about something.]

A very simple and straightforward sentence.

Without her previous words as context, what they'd be chatting about in the middle of the night was unclear.

The light fell on Xu Qingzhu's eyelashes, casting a shadow over her eyelids. Xu Qingzhu said in a drowsy voice: "Just play her voice message. I want to hear it."

Liang Shi: "?"

"Not playing it." Even Liang Shi's speech had a pinched quality to it. "What's so good about listening to it? You should go back to sleep."

Xu Qingzhu: ".....So petty."

Liang Shi tapped on the screen and sent a message: [What is it?]

Xu Qingzhu asked her: "Can I look?"

Liang Shi put the phone in the middle without any evasiveness. Xu Qingzhu's head naturally rested on her shoulder, barely touching it with no real weight.

After hesitating, Liang Shi moved closer to Xu Qingzhu's side, allowing her to rest more comfortably against her.

The two of them leaned against the sofa together.

Xu Qingzhu's voice carried drowsiness, and when lowered, it seemed like acting spoiled: "Just play it once."

Just then, Gu Yixue sent a second voice message, 20 seconds long.

Liang Shi: "....."

She converted it to text again and firmly answered: "Not playing it."

But this time Gu Yixue's voice message was a mix of Chinese and English. The text conversion couldn't accurately express her meaning. Xu Qingzhu watched with a smile from the side, then reached out her hand and directly pressed play, smoothly pressing Liang Shi's hand to turn up the phone volume a bit.

Gu Yixue said on the other end: "Do you have availability recently? Are you filming 'Afterglow'? I have a role here that's suitable for you....."

What followed was all in English, talking to someone else, speaking rather impatiently. The general meaning was: "You're bothering me with such a trivial matter? I'm not changing this script. She can come if she wants, or forget it if she doesn't."

As soon as the voice message finished playing, Gu Yixue's side clicked to recall it.
