

Chapter 103-2 Extra

In this process, I attracted many people who coveted my money and my body.

They could also give me the care I wanted.

But it just didn't feel like Yin Lingzhu.

Yin Lingzhu was Yin Lingzhu—unique and irreplaceable.

Just like the first candy she gave me, so sweet, so special.

Even though I later specifically bought that type of candy, I could never taste the same flavor.

Seeing my company grow bigger and stronger, my confidence also grew.

I was certain that Yin Lingzhu couldn't leave money behind.

I had investigated her. Her family background wasn't great, but everything she ate, wore, and used was the best.

She wouldn't leave me.

When I went to find Yin Lingzhu again, I wanted to tell her I had money now.

I could give you money, give you everything you wanted.

I found Yin Lingzhu. I knew she had signed with a company, and that company wasn't very good.

But I didn't warn her. Instead, I had people secretly tamper with her contract.

I made the "traps" in this contract bigger.

Behind the scenes, I quietly acquired this talent agency.

This way, Yin Lingzhu would be bound to the company for life, which meant bound to me for life.

I thought this way, but I didn't expect that I had missed something.

Yin Lingzhu actually got involved with Yan Si.

I didn't know how they met.

But how could they get a marriage certificate?

How could they do this?

How could Yin Lingzhu treat me this way?

I was extremely angry at the time and even wanted to immediately run to Yin Lingzhu's side to question her.

But I still held back.

While running my company and eliminating competitors, I learned one thing.

Winning hearts comes first¹.

So I decided to change my previous strategy.

I first went to the theater where Yan Si was filming and casually took out a photo of me and Yin Lingzhu.

Sure enough, just as I expected, when Yan Si saw the photo, her expression changed dramatically.

Later, I appeared before Yin Lingzhu as an investor.

What I didn't expect was that she actually didn't recognize me.

How could Yin Lingzhu forget me so quickly?

She actually only thought we were ordinary classmates.

I suppressed my anger and grievance, pretending not to know Yin Lingzhu, and chatted with her.

I discovered that Yin Lingzhu had changed so much.

So much that I could barely recognize her.

Watching her sit in the audience, seeing the radiance she emitted while singing, my heart suddenly became chaotic.

This Yin Lingzhu looked like a glowing angel.

And I seemed like a despicable person coveting an angel.

This thought became more obvious the longer I stayed by Yin Lingzhu's side.

I knew they had signed a marriage contract with a one-year term.

So I just had to endure this one year.

But one year still felt so long to me.

As long as Yan Si didn't exist, things would be much easier.

I thought.

But heaven seemed to favor Yan Si—every plan of mine was thwarted by her.

But now I didn't care. She and Yin Lingzhu weren't getting along well.

As long as they had no relationship, that was fine.

Until a year later, when their contract should have been terminated.

But Yan Si was unwilling.

I also knew about what happened between them during that period.

I scorned Yan Si's methods. Having Yin Lingzhu wasn't enough—she actually wanted someone else too.

Although I later understood that Yan Si hadn't cheated, it didn't stop me from thinking Yan Si was stupid.

Taking advantage of this gap, I appeared beside Yin Lingzhu in time.

Things were developing as I hoped.

Yin Lingzhu gradually let down her guard against me and opened her heart.

She even asked me to prepare suppressants for her.

I realized this was a good opportunity.

I added my own pheromones to the suppressants.

But unexpectedly, in the end, it was still Yan Si who ruined my plans.

This incident also made Yin Lingzhu's trust in me collapse instantly.

Later, she remembered things between me and her.

She thought I was one of her ambiguous romantic interests.

I smiled mockingly but said nothing.

Later on, I seemed to drift further and further from her.

She didn't come to find me, and she didn't go to find Yan Si either.

She seemed to want to leave all her time on the stage.

You Xiaoxiao seemed to have had a falling out with Yan Si and came to find me.

Looking at this person who had stayed by Yan Si's side for so long, my heart instantly filled with many plans targeting Yan Si.

But unexpectedly, even with You Xiaoxiao, I still didn't succeed.

I felt the greatest sense of defeat from Yan Si.

This sense of defeat blinded me and made me do the thing I regretted most.

I actually put Yin Lingzhu in danger for the sake of a hospital.

Fortunately, Yin Lingzhu was fine.

"The person you love most is yourself."

I heard Yan Si say this about me.

I returned to the villa and reflected on my life.

I indeed did as I had thought as a child—I left that small village.

I could now be considered a "life winner" in most people's eyes.

But I couldn't feel even a bit of happiness.

I walked into the police station and turned myself in.

This was how I atoned for my sins.

Footnotes:

¹ Winning hearts comes first: This refers to the military strategy concept of psychological warfare—that conquering the enemy's will is more effective than direct confrontation.