

Chapter 104-1 Extra

Extra: Bamboo¹ and Yan Si 1

After being discharged from the hospital, Yan Si fully displayed her shameless spirit.

Wherever Yin Lingzhu went, she followed.

Watching Yan Si's attentive behavior, Yin Lingzhu even suspected she wanted to photocopy their marriage certificate and give it to everyone they met.

Yin Lingzhu once again helplessly turned her head to look at Yan Si beside her.

"Can you stop staring at me like that?"

Yan Si's lips curved in a smile, her eyes unwilling to look away from Yin Lingzhu for even a moment.

She shook her head. "No, I just love looking at you. I could look at you for a lifetime and never get enough."

Yan Si's cheesy sweet talk made Yin Lingzhu shiver and get goosebumps all over.

She shook her body in disgust, but her hair ends swept across Yan Si's face as she got up.

Yan Si closed her eyes and gently sniffed, looking completely intoxicated.

"Baby smells so good."

Her behavior made Yin Lingzhu look at her like she was looking at a pervert.

Yin Lingzhu rolled her eyes at Yan Si and walked away.

Seeing this, Yan Si immediately followed Yin Lingzhu, staying close behind her.

After this period of persistent pestering, Yin Lingzhu finally couldn't hold out and moved in with Yan Si.

"I'm scared."

Yan Si stood at Yin Lingzhu's door holding a pillow.

Yin Lingzhu was already lying in bed. She turned her head to glance at Yan Si.

She was too tired to speak.

This scene had been playing out every night for the few days since she came here.

And she couldn't control herself—every time she let Yan Si onto the bed.

Seeing that she wasn't speaking, Yan Si walked to Yin Lingzhu's bedside on her own.

"Please, let's sleep together."

Yan Si crouched in front of Yin Lingzhu, putting her head on the bed and acting coquettishly.

Yin Lingzhu closed her eyes, choosing not to look at her.

But Yan Si's voice kept ringing out. Yin Lingzhu even felt that Yan Si was almost pressed against her face.

Yin Lingzhu couldn't help but lean back a bit, moving away from Yan Si.

But this one step back gave Yan Si an opportunity. She suddenly flipped over and rolled onto the bed.

Feeling the fabric beside her sink down, Yin Lingzhu knew she had been fooled again.

She turned her back to Yan Si. "Go to sleep."

Her attitude made Yan Si smile happily.

"Thank you, baby."

In the darkness, Yin Lingzhu's ear tips turned red.

Just as Yin Lingzhu's consciousness was gradually dispersing and she was about to fall asleep, she suddenly felt Yan Si's hand rest on her waist.

Then Yan Si slowly moved closer to Yin Lingzhu, also placing her head behind Yin Lingzhu's ear.

"Let's have a child, okay?"

When she spoke, the warm breath hit Yin Lingzhu's neck, making Yin Lingzhu completely unable to think.

Yin Lingzhu nodded dazedly.

Only when the heat on her neck gradually subsided did she realize what she had just agreed to.

She suddenly sat up in bed and looked at Yan Si.

"What did you say?"

Due to being too shocked, Yin Lingzhu even heard her own voice crack.

Yan Si also straightened up and sat up to look directly at Yin Lingzhu.

She looked at Yin Lingzhu with eyes that even carried a hint of reproach. "What are you doing? You scared me."

Yin Lingzhu instinctively wanted to say sorry.

Just as she opened her mouth, Yin Lingzhu sensed something was wrong.

"What did you just say?"

Yin Lingzhu had actually heard what Yan Si said, but because she was too shocked, she still wanted to confirm again.

Yan Si reached out her arms, wanting to embrace Yin Lingzhu.

But Yin Lingzhu leaned back to avoid her.

Yan Si could only sigh dejectedly and lower her eyes.

"Let's have a child."

As she said this, Yan Si's previous dejected mood instantly disappeared, and her eyes looked at Yin Lingzhu brightly.

Yin Lingzhu gasped, her heartbeat rapidly accelerating.

"No."

But Yan Si wasn't pleased. She supported herself with her hands on the bed and slowly crawled toward Yin Lingzhu on her knees.

From Yin Lingzhu's perspective, she could see Yan Si's soft waist.

She couldn't help but retreat until her back was against the wall with nowhere to go.

Yan Si slowly stopped in front of Yin Lingzhu.

Yin Lingzhu looked at Yan Si's pale neck and swallowed.

"Please?"

Yan Si's seductive voice rang out, eroding Yin Lingzhu's brain.

The rose fragrance at the tip of her nose seemed to grow stronger and stronger.

She lowered her head and bit into the soft flesh of the neck.

Her consciousness gradually began to float, and Yin Lingzhu felt like she had entered a dreamlike world, her body also sinking into extreme comfort.
