

Chapter 104-2 Extra

The next day, when Yin Lingzhu's consciousness returned and she remembered what she had done last night, she instantly regretted it.

She looked at Yan Si, who was still sleeping beside her, and kicked her awake.

Yan Si's face still wore a satisfied smile. Being suddenly awakened, she wasn't angry either.

She looked at Yin Lingzhu with confusion.

But Yin Lingzhu didn't want to say much to her. "Go back to your room to sleep."

Yan Si was about to refuse when she saw Yin Lingzhu's unfriendly gaze.

"Okay, okay, baby, don't be angry."

Yan Si hurriedly began coaxing her.

It took a lot of effort before Yin Lingzhu stopped being angry.

This process repeated for the next few days.

Until things went as Yan Si had hoped—she became pregnant, and only then did this process stop.

But after learning that Yan Si was pregnant, Yin Lingzhu was stunned for a moment.

She wasn't ready to be a mother yet.

Yan Si saw her worry and reached out to cup her face.

"This is what I've always hoped for."

Yan Si leaned forward, pressing her forehead against Yin Lingzhu's.

"Thank you for making my wish come true."

Yin Lingzhu closed her eyes, and her previously panicked emotions miraculously calmed down at this moment.

She could smell the refreshing fragrance on Yan Si and feel Yan Si's emotions.

When Yin Lingzhu opened her eyes, she discovered that Yan Si had also closed hers.

She moved her head forward a little and kissed Yan Si's lips.

This rose belonged to her now.

In the days that followed, Yan Si went crazy posting photos of herself on Weibo¹.

When Yan Si was acting before, even when she posted on Weibo, it was mostly brand collaboration ads or new drama promotions.

Even so, fans eagerly anticipated Yan Si's posts.

Later, when Yan Si retired from the industry, she basically stopped using Weibo.

Yan Si originally thought no one would be watching, but she underestimated her own charm.

The moment she posted, the retweets reached 999+.

【Ahhhhh!!!! Look what I discovered.】

【Sister, look at me, sister look at me, sister, I love you.】

【Sisi is still awake so late.】

【Children who stay up late get to see Weibo posts.】

【Sister, what does this Weibo post mean?】

Yan Si was also shocked by their enthusiasm and chose to reply to a few comments.

Yan Si had only posted with the caption "Looking forward to the future."

She smiled and replied to this comment.

【Wait a moment.】

That fan was still immersed in the excitement of Yan Si replying to her when she discovered that Yan Si had posted another Weibo.

She hurriedly clicked to check and found that this time Yan Si had posted a picture.

She quickly clicked to view the larger image.

Yan Si had actually posted a photo of their marriage certificate, and from the angle, it was clearly taken by Yan Si with her phone.

【I only knew that children who stay up late get to see good things, but I didn't know they'd be this good.】

【So Sisi came online tonight specifically to show off that she has a partner?】

【Sisters, I checked the time—they've been married for almost two years.】

【I also noticed that the person on the marriage certificate looks familiar.】

【Of course she looks familiar—this is Yin Lingzhu, who was very popular during that period.】

Yan Si watched these people discuss and smiled happily, even reading the particularly funny comments aloud to Yin Lingzhu.

¹ Weibo: China's equivalent of Twitter, a popular social media platform for posting short messages and images.