

Chapter 24-2

Yin Lingzhu returned to the program crew, but she didn't want to go back to the dormitory, so she ultimately chose to go to the dance practice room.

The dance practice room was really very large, especially with mirrors on two sides that could reflect a person's entire figure from every angle with no blind spots.

Yin Lingzhu silently sat down on a chair, looking at herself in the mirror, not knowing what she was thinking about.

On the other side, after Si Xin left, Yan Si stared blankly at the hospital room door.

Suddenly, regardless of the pain in her body, she got up and hugged Yin Lingzhu's fruit basket to her chest, as if going mad, sweeping all the fruit baskets sent by other people onto the floor.

You Xiaoxiao entered and saw fruit scattered all over the floor. "What happened here?"

She avoided the mess on the floor and carefully stood beside Yan Si's bed.

"She came, but didn't say anything, then left again." Yan Si spoke irritably.

She solemnly placed the only remaining fruit basket on the table.

"This is what she left behind."

You Xiaoxiao looked at her acting like a madwoman and silently moved a bit further away from her.

"Yin Lingzhu isn't that heartless by nature. Did you provoke her again?" You Xiaoxiao asked.

Yan Si shook her head. "I didn't. Si Xin came, and she saw Si Xin."

That's still called you didn't provoke her?

You Xiaoxiao thought to herself, but didn't show it on her face. She also didn't dare to directly complain about Yan Si to her face.

"Then have you thought about why Yin Lingzhu would be angry seeing Si Xin?" You Xiaoxiao slowly guided her.

Yan Si shook her head. "Not clear. Maybe because of me?"

You Xiaoxiao heard her words and almost rolled her eyes to the sky.

What do you mean "maybe"?

"Why did you cheat with Si Xin in the first place?" You Xiaoxiao took this opportunity to ask about her own confusion.

Yan Si had been single for over twenty years, then suddenly became enlightened - having a legitimate wife and keeping someone on the side. It didn't make sense.

Yan Si looked at that fruit basket. "I like her. I needed someone to test whether she truly liked me too."

You Xiaoxiao knew how terrible Yan Si's family was, and also knew that Yan Si's thought processes were peculiar, but she never expected it would be like this.

"You... you... you're really amazing." You Xiaoxiao said in shock.

"Then you should explain clearly to Yin Lingzhu that you have no relationship with Si Xin whatsoever."

Yan Si lay flat on the bed, burying her head in the pillow. "I think there's no need to explain this. I thought she wouldn't care."

You Xiaoxiao was so shocked she couldn't speak.

"Do you regret losing Yin Lingzhu now?" After a long while, You Xiaoxiao finally found her voice again.

Yan Si nodded. "I regret it. I regret not replying to her messages."

You Xiaoxiao waited to hear what Yan Si would say next, but Yan Si didn't say anything else.

"And then? Is there nothing else you regret?" You Xiaoxiao asked.

Yan Si thought for a moment. "I also shouldn't have put that divorce agreement in the apartment. If she hadn't found it, she wouldn't have signed it, wouldn't have divorced."

"Yan Si, you're truly beyond saving." You Xiaoxiao couldn't help but speak out after hearing Yan Si's words.

"How about we go see a psychiatrist?" You Xiaoxiao suggested sincerely.

Yan Si glared at her and didn't speak.

"Your mistakes aren't just these. Your biggest mistake was testing and distrusting."

"Yan Si, people only know to cherish something after they've lost it." You Xiaoxiao said before leaving, "If you let her do to you everything you did to Yin Lingzhu, what would happen?"

In the hospital room, the pungent smell of disinfectant spread, constantly stimulating Yan Si's nerves.

If Yin Lingzhu did all these things to her, what would happen?

Yan Si thought for a long time but couldn't figure it out.

The only thing she knew was that she couldn't bear for other people to appear beside Yin Lingzhu.

Yan Si's heart suddenly tightened. What exactly had she done?

Only at this moment did Yan Si realize what Si Xin truly represented to Yin Lingzhu.

Yan Si pulled out the needle from her hand, mindful of the bandages wrapped around her upper body, and put on loose clothing.

"Hurry up." Yan Si kept urging the driver.

She wanted to see Yin Lingzhu quickly and explain about Si Xin.

But when she arrived at the program crew, her footsteps paused.

She knew that Yin Lingzhu couldn't possibly forgive her, and might even hate her.

She still wanted to explain clearly that she truly had no thoughts of cheating during their marriage.

She first ran to Yin Lingzhu's dormitory and knocked on the door for a long time, but there was no response.

Yin Lingzhu had been waiting at the door until Wan Miaoyyin came to the dormitory entrance.

Wan Miaoyyin was obviously very surprised to see Yan Si, but still maintained her facial expression.

"Excuse me, is Yin Lingzhu here?" Yan Si saw Wan Miaoyyin and hurriedly asked.

Wan Miaoyyin shook her head. "She probably isn't in the dormitory right now."

After Yan Si thanked Wan Miaoyyin, she turned and headed off to look in other directions.

Wan Miaoyyin watched Yan Si's anxious appearance, emotions churning in her eyes.

After Yan Si had nearly searched everywhere once, she suddenly thought of a place.

Yan Si saw Yin Lingzhu in the dance practice room and breathed a sigh of relief internally.

She walked forward, originally planning to properly explain about Si Xin.

But when she saw Yin Lingzhu's appearance, with no ripples in Yin Lingzhu's eyes, she suddenly panicked.

Previously, no matter what Yin Lingzhu said, Yan Si could see wavering and emotion in Yin Lingzhu's eyes.

Not once had it been like now, like looking at a stranger.

There was no emotion in the way Yin Lingzhu looked at her.

This time, Yan Si inexplicably felt that Yin Lingzhu had truly let her go.

But just thinking of this answer, Yan Si's heart felt as if it was being gnawed by thousands of ants.

She was unwilling. She would rather have Yin Lingzhu hate her than have Yin Lingzhu treat her like a stranger.

"Boss Yan, is there something you need?" Yin Lingzhu got up from the chair, her face wearing a formulaic smile.

Yan Si swallowed, feeling her throat was a bit dry. She was somewhat afraid of Yin Lingzhu at this moment.

"I want to talk to you about the matter between Si Xin and me." Yan Si spoke dryly.

"You and Si Xin - there's no need to explain to me. We now only have the relationship of boss and employee."

Yin Lingzhu's smile didn't change. "The boss's romantic history doesn't need to be explained to a small employee like me."

Yan Si's face went pale, her throat becoming even more hoarse. "Si Xin and I have no relationship whatsoever. I was just using her."

The smile on Yin Lingzhu's face suddenly disappeared. "Yan Si, there's no need. Don't make me think you're like a coward who only makes excuses."

The bright lights in the dance practice room were very bright, allowing them to see each other's faces clearly, down to any minute expression.

Yan Si could see the indifference in Yin Lingzhu's eyes, and Yin Lingzhu could see the panic in Yan Si's eyes.

At this moment, she suddenly felt a few points of satisfaction.

Using nine parts of pain in exchange for less than one part of satisfaction.

"Yan Si, do you remember what you said about me?" Yin Lingzhu recalled that incident at the hospital.

"You said I was dirty. Do you remember?" Yin Lingzhu's lips parted slightly, describing that incident.

Yan Si remembered, her face turning pale again as she wanted to escape.

That time, she also knew Yin Lingzhu was outside.

"Yan Si, now who exactly is the dirty one?"

Yin Lingzhu suddenly laughed. She kept approaching Yan Si, and Yan Si kept retreating.

Until Yan Si was forced against the wall.

Her back, through the gauze and clothes, still made her feel pain.

Yan Si spoke quietly, defending herself, "I didn't. Si Xin and I never slept together, never felt anything."

Light scattered into her eyes, sparkling and creating ripples, adding some fragile brilliance.

Yin Lingzhu was almost driven to laughter by anger. Yan Si telling lies with her eyes wide open - she truly lived up to being a movie queen.

Back then, she had personally seen Si Xin come out of Yan Si's office, personally seen how one message from Si Xin could call Yan Si away.

Now Yan Si was telling her they had no relationship - was she trying to fool a ghost?

Right now Yin Lingzhu didn't want to talk to Yan Si, so she didn't voice these thoughts.

"Yan Si, can we go get our divorce certificate now?" Yin Lingzhu said.

Hearing her mention the divorce certificate, Yan Si's mind went blank for a moment.

But her body reacted faster than her brain - she quickly shook her head.

If they got the divorce certificate, they would truly have no relationship at all.

She didn't want to just be in a simple boss-employee relationship.

"No." Yan Si said these two words, then refused to say anything else no matter what.

"Yan Si, sign the divorce agreement, okay? After signing, both you and I will be free." Yin Lingzhu said patiently.

Yan Si kept her mouth tightly shut, shaking her head.

Seeing Yan Si like this, Yin Lingzhu lost the desire to speak kindly.

"Even if you don't divorce, it won't cause me any harm. I'm still young, I can still find someone who likes me."

Yin Lingzhu looked at Yan Si and continued her previous words. "I can do as you said - dirty myself."

With each sentence Yin Lingzhu spoke, Yan Si's heart sank further. In the end, Yan Si felt her heart hurt so much she couldn't breathe.

She still stubbornly shook her head. "No."

She didn't know whether this "no" was about not signing the divorce agreement, or disagreeing with what Yin Lingzhu said afterward.

Yin Lingzhu lost the desire to talk to Yan Si. So be it then.

Anyway, she currently had no intention of dating, so the divorce certificate didn't have any impact on her at the moment.

Watching Yin Lingzhu turn around without any hesitation, tears finally fell from Yan Si's eyes.

She took out her phone and with trembling hands searched for how to avoid divorce.

The first result that popped up was: child.

Yan Si looked at those two characters, her hand stroking her nape. After a long while, she put away her phone.