

Chapter 25-1

Yan Si¹ turned her head to look at Yin Lingzhu, tears blurring her eyes.

The world already had a layer of separation from her.

Yin Lingzhu still kept her eyes closed, not looking at her.

Yan Si looked at Yin Lingzhu's posture with her arms crossed against her chest, "It's getting cold, wear my clothes when you go back."

With her eyes closed, Yin Lingzhu nodded, indicating that she understood.

Yan Si wanted to speak, but didn't know what to say.

"Think it over carefully, I will absolutely not change my mind." Yin Lingzhu stood up, not intending to continue entangling with Yan Si.

She coldly left this sentence behind and took Wan Miaoyin's² clothes.

Yan Si saw her movement, "You didn't agree to wear my clothes?"

Yin Lingzhu's gesture of picking up the clothes didn't pause.

"I didn't agree to you, I just nodded at the time." Yin Lingzhu said.

Yin Lingzhu looked back at her, "Yan Si, give up."

The sky outside the hospital room was dark and overcast, with the moon and stars all dim and lightless.

When the night wind blew, the half-open window made a loud sound and slammed shut tightly.

This sudden noise startled all three people.

Yin Lingzhu was only wearing a short-sleeved shirt, and if she didn't wear a jacket, she would definitely catch cold.

"Yan Si, according to you, what should we do in this current situation."

Yin Lingzhu held the jacket over her arm without putting it on.

Yan Si, lying on the bed, pointed to her own clothes.

"Wear mine." Yan Si's voice was hoarse, yet carried an imperceptible joy.

Yin Lingzhu stood at the door without moving, "Yours, I don't want to wear."

Yan Si heard her words and felt a sharp stab in her heart, revealing a bitter smile.

"You can wear Xiaoxiao's³."

Yin Lingzhu shook her head, "Won't wear it."

Yan Si looked at her appearance and knew in her heart what she wanted her to say. She looked at Wan Miaoyin's clothes, "You can also wear hers."

Only then did Yin Lingzhu turn and leave.

You Xiaoxiao⁴ couldn't understand the tension between them and only felt the atmosphere was wrong.

She sat by Yan Si's bedside, "It's just a piece of clothing, she can wear whoever's she wants."

Yan Si looked at her, "You don't understand."

You Xiaoxiao heard her response and nodded randomly, "Yeah, yeah, yeah, you're right, I don't understand, you understand, and now you've made yourself like this."

Yan Si wanted to turn around and face away from her, but the pain in her back affected her whole body, and her face scrunched up in pain.

You Xiaoxiao could see her intention, "Look at you, still wrapped in bandages and going on the operating table."

"If it weren't for your good constitution, you'd probably have passed out by now instead of still being able to talk."

You Xiaoxiao spoke with her mouth but still felt some sympathy in her heart.

She got up and gently helped Yan Si turn on her side with her hands.

Yan Si now felt pain with any slight movement, and the pain from her back seemed to transmit to her heart.

"Am I really that wrong?"

Yan Si's mumbling was heard by You Xiaoxiao, who stood behind Yan Si's back and, taking advantage that Yan Si couldn't see her, nodded.

Yes, you hurt someone like that, almost killed them.

Yan Si didn't know about You Xiaoxiao's gesture. She looked at the wind outside blowing the tree branches.

"She still has me in her heart, whether it's hate or love, she's still taking care of my emotions."

You Xiaoxiao listened to her thoughts and felt somewhat numb inside. She had received enough shocks yesterday.

"When did you fall in love with her? I've been by your side and never noticed."

Yan Si didn't answer her.

She didn't know either, perhaps it was at first sight, or perhaps it was watching Yin Lingzhu busying herself for her, or perhaps it was somewhere else.

She couldn't say.

"I don't want her to hate me." Yan Si stared blankly out the window, "But I don't know what to do now."

"She said she hates me, doesn't want me to pester her."

You Xiaoxiao inexplicably felt that this version of Yan Si was a bit pitiful.

You Xiaoxiao searched her mind but couldn't find any solution.

She had been single for more than twenty years and had no dating experience at all.

Yan Si naturally didn't place her hopes on her.

Thousands of thoughts swirled in Yan Si's mind, with letting go and not letting go interweaving in her head.

In the end, Yan Si's head hurt more and more, but the thought of not letting go gradually gained the upper hand.

She couldn't possibly let go.

Yin Lingzhu left the hospital and waited at the intersection for a long time before finally catching a taxi.

As soon as she got in the car, Yin Lingzhu touched her arms, which were terribly cold.

"Miss, why aren't you wearing clothes?" The driver saw her rubbing her arms through the rearview mirror.

Yin Lingzhu looked at the jacket beside her and casually made up an excuse, "Accidentally got it wet, wearing it would be cold too."

Yin Lingzhu herself didn't know why she wouldn't wear this clothing.

Probably because she had taken this clothing without the owner's permission.

She made excuses for herself to cover up the inexplicable emotions in her heart.

When Yin Lingzhu returned to the dormitory, the other two people were already asleep, so she lightened her footsteps.

She carefully put the clothes back in their original place, and when she lay in bed, she was also thinking about what happened today.

She hadn't expected that Yan Si would actually do such a thing.

Pregnancy, what was Yan Si thinking.

Yin Lingzhu felt that after she signed the divorce agreement, everything had changed.

Could that divorce agreement have some kind of magic?

Yin Lingzhu was amused by her own wild imagination.

She touched the back of her neck, which still felt pain from time to time.

What Yan Si had done to her was still affecting her.

Even a dog knows to run when it gets beaten and hurt.

Why didn't Yan Si understand this principle?

Yin Lingzhu thought drowsily and slowly fell asleep.

Footnotes:

¹ Yan Si (宴思): The movie queen's name, consistent with previous translations

² Wan Miaoyin (萬妙音): One of Yin Lingzhu's roommates

³ Xiaoxiao: Nickname for You Xiaoxiao

⁴ You Xiaoxiao (尤笑笑): Yan Si's friend and doctor