

Chapter 36-1

At this moment, Yin Lingzhu just wanted to escape from this place.

From the moment Yan Si rushed into the film crew in panic, she felt that something big was about to go wrong.

Actually, when she saw Yan Si's eyes searching through the crowd, Yin Lingzhu also had a bad premonition.

At this moment, all the eyes of the film crew were focused on the two of them.

Yin Lingzhu now wanted to find a crack in the ground to crawl into and hide from these stares.

"Listen to me, I really have no relationship with Si Xin."

Yan Si stood in front of Yin Lingzhu, speaking anxiously. Because she had run too hard, her breathing was also very uneven.

"Senior¹, I think you've got the wrong person." Yin Lingzhu said to Yan Si with a serious expression, also increasing the distance between herself and Yan Si a bit.

The determined expression on her face made the onlookers believe her to some extent.

Yan Si also noticed her movement. "Perhaps I did recognize the wrong person."

She said with a dejected look, lowered her head and left.

When Yin Lingzhu saw her move away from herself, she let out a long breath.

When Yan Si left, she also gave a warning look to the people around.

Everyone very wisely lowered their heads and got back to work.

Except for Jiang Yu.

"I think there's definitely something between you two." Jiang Yu slyly moved close to Yin Lingzhu's side.

Her face was written with one sentence: I've discovered your secret.

Yin Lingzhu's heart jumped to her throat, but she forced herself to appear relaxed and showed a smile.

"How is that possible? What's my status? Yan Si could be said to be my boss's boss's boss to the nth power."

"How could I possibly have any relationship with her?" Yin Lingzhu's tone was very casual, carrying a teasing meaning.

Jiang Yu looked at her expression - it didn't seem like she was lying.

"Really?" Jiang Yu asked unwillingly.

She always felt there was some relationship between the two.

"Really." Yin Lingzhu was nervous inside, but still put on a helpless appearance on the surface.

"The director is here, stop gossiping." Yin Lingzhu saw the director and, as if seeing a lifeline, quickly changed the topic.

Jiang Yu had no choice but to give up and didn't continue asking.

The two quickly changed into their costumes and began filming the afternoon scenes.

Yan Si had already notified the director in advance that all her scenes would be pushed back.

Yan Si left the film crew, gripping the steering wheel with both hands, the bones at her knuckles clearly visible.

Her eyes were fierce. Although she didn't know exactly who was responsible for this incident, she had several locked-in suspects.

It was either Yan Yuan² or Ming Qingyun. Other people didn't have that kind of audacity.

Stepping hard on the gas pedal, within a few minutes Yan Si arrived at the entrance of a club.

The security guards and bodyguards at the entrance, seeing it was Yan Si, didn't dare to stop her.

Yan Si entered, her gaze sweeping across the entire venue, walking up to a server.

The bar server, seeing her aggressive approach, immediately notified the manager.

With a smile on her face, she inquired what kind of person Yan Si was looking for.

"Where is Yan Yuan? Tell him to get out here."

Yan Si said this sentence in a cold tone, her eyes like knives shooting out, piercing into the server's heart.

"Yes, yes." The server nodded repeatedly.

But she also didn't dare to really go look, as Yan Yuan also had connections with the manager, and she didn't dare to rashly go forward.

Just as the server was in a dilemma, the manager came.

The manager, seeing this scene, gave the server a look, and the server immediately left the scene, walking toward a private room.

Yan Si naturally noticed their movements. She casually picked up a wine glass.

The liquid was swirled around, with gorgeous and beautiful bubbles rising to the surface and disappearing.

"Stop." She took a light sip of wine. Though her tone wasn't heavy, the manager's heart trembled.

The server's footsteps also stopped.

"President Yan, she just arrived and doesn't understand. I'll take you there." The manager bent down with a face full of apologetic smiles.

The spicy yet slightly sweet taste in her mouth, as if countless bubbles were exploding, made Yan Si squint her eyes slightly.

"She doesn't understand, but do you understand? Wanting to please both sides - you should think about whether you're qualified for that." Yan Si stared at him coldly.

It seemed that she hadn't appeared for too long recently, making these people forget what she used to be like.

Yan Si tilted her head back. The wine was orange with a bit of red, and she drank it all in one gulp.

Her white, slender neck was exposed, but no one dared to look.

"Lead the way. Where is he?"

Yan Si's lips were stained with some wine drops, making her lips look extremely alluring, like roses touched with dewdrops.

"Yes, yes." The manager lowered his head, not daring to look at her appearance.

He respectfully led the way in front, bringing her to the entrance of a private room.

Even though the room's soundproofing was good, the sounds of talking and loud laughter could still be heard from inside.

Yan Si kicked the door open with one foot, and the talking inside came to an abrupt halt.

The sounds of revelry turned into silence.

Yan Si immediately saw Yan Yuan sitting in the main seat. He should have drunk a lot, causing him to not recognize Yan Si for a moment.

"Who is it? Don't want to live anymore, huh?" Yan Yuan had someone in his arms, didn't even open his eyes, and yelled at the top of his voice.

The manager, seeing this situation, quickly walked over to remind him.

"Young Master Yan, your sister is here."

When Yan Yuan heard the words "sister," he pulled a mocking smile. "Sister? Who? Yan Si? Yan Si doesn't deserve to be my sister."

After saying this, he opened his eyes and looked at the manager, patting him with his hand. "Serve me well, and you won't lack money."

He also used his hand to touch the face of the person in his arms. "Right?"

Yan Si looked at his ridiculous appearance. "Yan Yuan."

Hearing the familiar voice, Yan Yuan's body shuddered, but immediately he forced himself to appear calm.

"Oh, you're here. Come play." Yan Yuan let go of the person in his hands, leaned back against the sofa in a relaxed manner, and teased playfully.

The people in the private room, seeing this situation and noticing Yan Yuan's nonchalant attitude, also started booing.

"Oh, isn't this that big star? Come play."

"What resources do you want? Serve me well, and I'll give them to you."

"That's right, I know you people in the entertainment industry are all dirty³."

The cacophony of voices was annoying.

Only a few people remained silent.

And Yan Yuan quietly watched everything without speaking. He was very happy to see Yan Si in trouble, no matter what kind of situation it was.

As long as Yan Si was unhappy, he was happy.

Footnotes:

¹ Senior: A respectful way to address someone with more experience or higher status in the entertainment industry. Yin Lingzhu is using formal language to distance herself from Yan Si.

² Yan Yuan: Yan Si's younger brother who has been causing trouble throughout the story and harbors resentment toward his successful sister.

³ "Dirty": A derogatory reference to the entertainment industry's reputation for moral compromises and sexual favors in exchange for career advancement - a harmful stereotype being used to insult Yan Si.
