

Chapter 43-2

A faint snow pear fragrance drifted in the car.

This was something Yan Si had specially found, with a scent that was fifty percent similar to Yin Lingzhu's pheromones.

Smelling the pleasant sweet scent, the irritation in Yan Si's heart also lessened considerably.

Si Xin had just said one word - "Ming."

During this period, the person she disliked happened to have the surname Ming.

Yan Si's head tilted back slightly, her eyes showing complex emotions.

There were no scenes for Yan Si in the afternoon. When she arrived at the film crew, Yin Lingzhu was already filming.

In the script, there was a young lady who liked the scholar.

The person who had exposed Yan Si's photos that day, suspecting something inappropriate between Yan Si and Yin Lingzhu's relationship.

Jiang Yu, she played the role of the young lady.

The current plot development showed the young lady's innocent awakening, looking at the scholar with tender affection.

While the handsome scholar was concentrating on memorizing his books at the moment, not noticing the gazes of those around him.

Watching this, Yan Si felt an impulse. She wanted to forcibly stand between them, blocking the young lady's gaze.

But the current Yan Si could only stand firmly rooted in place like her feet were nailed to the ground.

It wasn't until this scene finished filming that Yan Si walked toward Yin Lingzhu's direction.

But Yan Si knew that Yin Lingzhu currently found her disgusting, so she didn't go too close and didn't dare get too near to Yin Lingzhu.

She walked to the director's side. The director thought she had come to see how this scene was filmed and specifically made room for her.

But Yan Si's gaze at this moment wasn't on the screen at all.

From her peripheral vision, she could clearly see Yin Lingzhu laughing heartily at something the person beside her had said.

Yan Si clenched her fists, feeling sour in her heart.

But she didn't dare rashly insert herself into the situation now.

Yan Si didn't want to keep watching that side, so she could only stare at the screen with eyes full of resentment.

The director was very satisfied with the scene just filmed. Both Yin Lingzhu and Jiang Yu had performed well in this scene.

The director was about to ask for Yan Si's evaluation when he saw Yan Si's expression.

The resentment in Yan Si's eyes was about to drown him.

The director didn't dare ask what was wrong with Yan Si.

So the director silently watched the scene they had just filmed again.

Yan Si's heart now was like having a jar of vinegar spilled in it, yet she didn't dare show it.

The entire afternoon, Yan Si was like an outsider, standing beside the director, carefully watching Yin Lingzhu.

Only now could she openly look at Yin Lingzhu.

Yin Lingzhu wasn't a piece of wood either, so she naturally noticed Yan Si's gaze.

It was fine when she was acting. Jiang Yu had been acting for several years, and with Jiang Yu's help, she could get into character quickly.

But outside of acting was different.

Yan Si probably had never done anything sneaky before.

Yan Si thought she was observing secretly, but in reality, her entire eyeball was practically glued to Yin Lingzhu.

Yin Lingzhu wanted to tell Yan Si to stop looking at her.

Jiang Yu, who was beside Yin Lingzhu, now had eyes full of teasing.

She had an indescribable expression.

Compared to her melon-eating¹ expression that afternoon, this was even more excessive.

Yin Lingzhu didn't want to explain now, and couldn't explain either.

"I told you there was something between you two." Jiang Yu's tone was full of certainty.

Yin Lingzhu couldn't explain even if she wanted to now.

She could only helplessly wave her hand. "You're overthinking it."

"These eyes of mine have seen so many people in the entertainment industry, and I've never been wrong."

Jiang Yu's expression was very proud, with solid confidence in herself.

Her eyes were bright and piercing.

Yin Lingzhu at this moment couldn't understand this kind of gleam.

Only later would Yin Lingzhu understand that this kind of gleam was unique to people who shipped couples².

Jiang Yu waved her hand. "I won't disturb you two anymore."

With that, Jiang Yu slowly walked away, distancing herself from Yin Lingzhu.

This left Yin Lingzhu alone to face Yan Si's gaze.

Yan Si probably also realized that Jiang Yu had left because of her. After Jiang Yu left, she immediately withdrew her gaze.

Afterward, Yan Si's gaze wasn't as direct.

As soon as the afternoon's scenes finished filming, Yin Lingzhu left the film crew like she was escaping.

She didn't want to appear to know Yan Si, so she couldn't directly go find Yan Si.

But she really couldn't stand Yan Si constantly looking at her either.

Footnotes:

¹ Melon-eating: In Chinese internet slang, "eating melons" (吃瓜) refers to watching drama or gossip unfold, like a spectator enjoying entertainment.

² Shipping couples: The practice of fans supporting or wanting to see a romantic relationship between two characters or real people, often called "CP" (couple) in Chinese fan culture.
