

Chapter 44-2

After returning to the hotel and washing up, Yin Lingzhu picked up her phone to check the time.

It was only past eight o'clock. So early.

Yin Lingzhu felt a bit bored. She lay on the bed and casually picked up the nutrient solution beside her.

The nutrient solution emitted a faint glow in her hands, looking very dreamlike.

But Yin Lingzhu seemed to smell a hint of light fragrance, like the scent of green leaves.

This wasn't there yesterday.

When Yin Lingzhu wanted to smell it more carefully, she found the scent had already disappeared.

The smell vanished so quickly that it made Yin Lingzhu think what she'd just experienced was an illusion.

She didn't pay much attention to it, placing the nutrient solution on the table and picking up her phone to browse.

She'd drink it before bed, she thought.

Yan Si returned to the hotel.

Her chest was rising and falling rapidly. She was indeed angered by Ming Qingyun.

She was now afraid that Yin Lingzhu would really agree to Ming Qingyun.

In business, she could be described as invincible, unperturbed by waves, but only with Yin Lingzhu did she not dare to think carefully.

If Yin Lingzhu really left her, what would she do?

The things she had done before could be said to be completely wrong.

But now, it was like exam results had already come out - the person involved could only hold the results and regret.

Powerless to change the exam scores.

Yan Si stared at the laptop in front of her, which showed Yin Lingzhu's figure.

This was recorded by surveillance when Yin Lingzhu was still in the apartment.

On screen, Yin Lingzhu was now cooking. She tasted a spoonful of soup, got burned, and her face scrunched up.

Watching her like this, Yan Si's anxious mood eased slightly.

The phone suddenly rang at this moment. Yan Si frowned and pressed the answer button.

If it wasn't urgent, her assistant wouldn't disturb her.

"President Yan, following your instructions, I've traced the source of Madam's suppressants."

Yan Si hummed in acknowledgment. She now knew who it was too.

But what the assistant said next was something Yan Si hadn't expected.

"Ming Qingyun gave Madam three bottles of suppressants. One bottle was fine, but the other two were mixed with her pheromones."

Yan Si suddenly jumped up from the sofa and rushed toward Yin Lingzhu's room.

Adding pheromones to suppressants would make the user develop dependency on the pheromone owner.

If that was the case, it would be terrible.

Thinking of this, Yan Si quickly knocked on Yin Lingzhu's room door.

Yin Lingzhu was just about to drink the suppressant. She felt her neck was already getting a bit hot.

And her pheromone scent was also spreading in the air.

A faint snow pear scent - though not obvious, it domineeringly covered every corner.

Yin Lingzhu checked the time. It was already past ten o'clock, and the sounds outside the door were very urgent.

It seemed like there was some emergency. She immediately came out of her room.

She opened the door.

The person who came was Yan Si. Yin Lingzhu instinctively wanted to close the door, but Yan Si's hand was positioned at the door edge, not letting her close it.

Yan Si's voice was very anxious. "Lingzhu, listen to me. Don't drink the suppressant first."

S-level Omegas and Alphas had similar physical capabilities.

In terms of strength, Yin Lingzhu and Yan Si were about equal.

She decisively loosened her grip.

"If I don't drink suppressants, you want me to go find someone?"

Yin Lingzhu said irritably.

Hearing her words, Yan Si shook her head vigorously.

"The suppressants have problems, that's why I don't want you to drink them."

Yin Lingzhu had an expression of "I'm watching you make this up."

Footnotes:

None needed for this chapter.