

Chapter 50-1

Yin Lingzhu didn't stop walking, saying as she walked, "When it comes to physical condition, what anyone says doesn't count."

Seeing this, Ming Qingyun couldn't say anything more. She slowed down her walking pace.

In just a moment, Yin Lingzhu had left her far behind.

She didn't chase after her, watching Yin Lingzhu's retreating figure with profound eyes.

Yin Lingzhu returned to her hotel room.

The quiet and spacious room cleared her mind considerably.

What was really wrong with Yan Si's body?

Yin Lingzhu closed her eyes, thinking in her mind.

Ming Qingyun's words had affected her heart.

Recalling Yan Si at the hospital, Yin Lingzhu frowned and opened her phone to search.

After a while, Yin Lingzhu let out a long breath.

Yin Lingzhu put down her phone. On the screen was a pancreatic cancer patient's treatment process.

The person in the video had a face contorted with pain, her body constantly trembling.

Sweat continuously emerged from her forehead, hitting the ground, combined with her agonized expression, she looked very wretched.

Even through the screen, one could sense how much pain she was in.

Watching the video, Yin Lingzhu couldn't help thinking—would Yan Si be like this in the future?

She didn't want Yan Si to be like this.

Even though she didn't like Yan Si now, she also didn't want Yan Si to die.

But there was nothing she could do to help Yan Si. Even the most important thing in hospitals—money—Yan Si didn't lack.

If the world could buy life with money, then Yan Si would definitely live forever.

When she was at a loss, Yan Si called her.

Yin Lingzhu didn't hesitate and immediately answered.

Yan Si's weak voice came through. Due to the phone's distortion, it even sounded intermittent.

"Lingzhu, can you stay with me? I feel terrible."

Almost immediately, Yin Lingzhu thought of the person in the video she had just watched, suffering in pain.

"I'll be right there."

Yin Lingzhu immediately rushed to the hospital. When she was about to hang up the phone, Yan Si spoke again.

"Please don't hang up, okay? I want to hear your voice."

Yin Lingzhu's hand, which had been hovering over the hang-up button, immediately stopped. Her tone became gentle. "Okay, I won't hang up."

But Yin Lingzhu was now anxiously rushing to the hospital and wasn't in the mood for conversation.

And because of her physical condition, even speaking required a lot of effort for Yan Si.

Therefore, Yin Lingzhu didn't let her talk much, telling her to take care of her body.

After arriving at the hospital, Yan Si on the hospital bed looked even paler than before.

Now her complexion was almost comparable to white paper, her entire face without a trace of color.

Looking at her, Yin Lingzhu's heart beat rapidly, and her palms were sweating.

Hadn't she just left a few hours ago? How had it become this serious?

Seeing her arrive, Yan Si, though with difficulty, still managed to show her a smile.

After just one meeting, Yan Si was pushed away by the medical staff who had been waiting.

The surgery lasted nearly three hours.

Yin Lingzhu waited outside the operating room until the light went out and the door opened before she felt relieved.

The doctor told Yin Lingzhu that if Yan Si's body continued to receive treatment, the possibility of recovery was very high.

Yin Lingzhu felt relieved, but thinking of the video content she had seen, she hurriedly asked.

"During treatment, will it be very painful?"

The doctor's voice came through the mask, carrying a cold tone. "Pain cannot be avoided."

"Thank you, doctor." Yin Lingzhu said absent-mindedly. She didn't even notice when the doctor left.

When Yin Lingzhu arrived at Yan Si's ward, she discovered that Yan Si had already awakened.

There was still a needle in the back of Yan Si's hand. She pointed to a chair beside her.

Yan Si's voice was still very small, as if this serious illness had taken away her voice too.

"Can you sit here?"

Hearing Yan Si's almost pleading tone, Yin Lingzhu walked forward and sat in the position Yan Si indicated.

Looking at Yin Lingzhu who was so close, a dark gleam quickly flashed through Yan Si's eyes.

Yin Lingzhu didn't notice Yan Si's abnormality.

She looked at Yan Si's obviously much thinner arms, searching desperately in her mind for topics to discuss, but in the end said nothing.

She didn't know what to say to Yan Si, but in this situation, saying nothing also seemed inappropriate.

From the corner of her eye, she saw an apple. She picked it up and said to Yan Si, "Let me peel an apple for you."

Seeing Yin Lingzhu's awkwardness, Yan Si nodded. "Okay."

Yin Lingzhu used the knife very skillfully, peeling the apple in one continuous strip. She had originally wanted to give the apple directly to Yan Si.

Noticing that Yan Si's hands weren't very convenient right now, she went to find a plate.

She carefully cut the apple into small pieces, placed them on the plate, and put a toothpick in each piece of fruit.

Yin Lingzhu placed the plate on the bedside table. "If there's anything else I can help with, just tell me."

Her voice carried weight and concern.

Yan Si smiled gently. "I don't want to stay here anymore."

"I want to go home."

After hearing this, Yin Lingzhu instinctively wanted to refuse.

With Yan Si's physical condition, she absolutely couldn't be discharged.

"No, you must stay here."

Yin Lingzhu looked at her with determined eyes. "If there are people you want to see, let them come to the hospital."

Yan Si shook her head. "The person I want to see is right in front of me."

Yin Lingzhu was stunned by her words. Quick to react, she immediately said, "Then you have even less reason to be discharged."

"I can stay at the hospital with you all the time."

In Yin Lingzhu's heart now, as long as Yan Si didn't die, anything was fine.

She knew she didn't want Yan Si to die.

The medicine in Yan Si's IV drip had finished. Yin Lingzhu was about to call the nurse when she heard Yan Si say, "No need."

Yan Si reached out and pulled out the needle from the back of her hand. "I want to be discharged. I'm not taking any more treatment."

Seeing the needle fall through the air, Yin Lingzhu's anger flared up.

"Don't you want to live?"

Yan Si got out of bed and came to Yin Lingzhu's side, reaching out to embrace her.

"I just want to be with you all the time."

"Let's go back to the apartment, okay?" Yan Si's eyes looked pitiful.

"The apartment—that place isn't suitable for recuperation." Yin Lingzhu instinctively refused.

She knew which apartment Yan Si was talking about—the place where she had lived for a year.

Yan Si shook her body. "Please, let's go there."

Was Yan Si... acting cute with her?

Yin Lingzhu was shocked inside, but she still didn't agree.

"No, with your physical condition, the hospital won't agree to discharge you either."

But Yan Si keenly caught the loophole in her words. "If the hospital agrees, then we'll move to the apartment to live together, how about that?"

Looking at her expression, Yin Lingzhu could see she wouldn't give up until she achieved her goal.

She could only nod.

After all, the hospital wouldn't let her be discharged anyway.