

Chapter 52-1

Yin Lingzhu looked at Yan Si with some horror.

Yan Si was now extremely close to the bed, her knees already touching it.

Yin Lingzhu looked at Yan Si helplessly and tucked her blanket even tighter around herself. "If you insist on sleeping here, at least put on proper clothes."

Yan Si looked down at her pajamas. The apartment's heating was very well maintained.

Her white pajamas were a set, very sheer, and one could vaguely see the skin beneath the fabric.

After bathing, no one wanted to wear undergarments.

Yan Si nodded sullenly and left the room.

Seeing her leave, Yin Lingzhu exhaled.

If she hadn't stopped her in time just now, Yan Si would probably already be sleeping on the bed by now.

Yin Lingzhu looked at the ceiling, her mind filled with the scene from just moments ago.

Yan Si's figure was completely revealed.

If she hadn't seen wrong, it seemed like a waist that could be encircled with one hand, adorned with two waist dimples¹, looking very much like it would inspire destructive desires.

Yin Lingzhu thought silently in her heart.

Yan Si changed clothes very quickly—less than a minute.

Wearing a nightgown, Yan Si's ankles, white as luminous pearls, involuntarily attracted one's gaze.

Yin Lingzhu silently looked away, focusing on Yan Si's face.

If she made Yan Si change clothes again now, wouldn't that seem a bit excessive?

Yan Si slowly climbed onto the bed, and Yin Lingzhu gradually moved toward the other side of the bed.

In the end, Yin Lingzhu had nowhere left to retreat.

Including herself and the blanket, she only occupied a quarter of the bed.

Just when Yin Lingzhu thought everything was over, she immediately realized that Yan Si hadn't brought a blanket.

Yin Lingzhu sat up, the blanket wrapping her tightly.

She turned to look at Yan Si.

Sure enough, on the other three-quarters of the bed, there was only Yan Si.

Yan Si was also looking at her at this moment, her eyes very helpless.

Yin Lingzhu knew the blanket she had was a double blanket, but she didn't want to share it with Yan Si.

"How about you go get another blanket?"

Yin Lingzhu looked at Yan Si tentatively and said.

Yan Si shook her head, lying flat on the bed. "No need. The room is very warm. I can sleep without a blanket."

Yin Lingzhu looked at her, hesitating for a long time in her heart.

"Alright, sleep early."

After saying this, Yin Lingzhu directly lay down with her back to Yan Si.

A lamp in the room was still on.

In the middle of the night, Yin Lingzhu got up to use the bathroom and found Yan Si curled up on the bed.

Still concerned about Yan Si's health, she went to Yan Si's room to bring over a blanket.

She really didn't know what Yan Si was being stubborn about. It was just a few steps, wasn't it?

Seeing Yan Si's furrowed brows gradually relax after being covered with the blanket, Yin Lingzhu's heart settled a bit.

Though the room was indeed very warm, blankets provided more than just warmth to people—they also brought a sense of security.

Early the next morning, Yin Lingzhu took Yan Si to the hospital.

Arriving at the consultation room door, the doctor looked at Yan Si, then at Yin Lingzhu.

"Family members please wait outside."

Yin Lingzhu could only sit on the bench outside. After the door closed, Yan Si's figure was completely out of sight.

Inside the room, You Xiaoxiao sat in a chair, having been waiting for Yan Si early.

The doctor tactfully left through another door.

Only Yan Si and You Xiaoxiao remained in the room.

A diagnosis report was placed on the table. Yan Si picked it up and looked at it carefully, not missing any detail.

You Xiaoxiao stared at her. "Aren't you afraid?"

Yan Si didn't lift her head as she said, "It's already done. Being afraid won't help."

"Besides, this method is very effective."

You Xiaoxiao was somewhat surprised. "What do you mean?"

Yan Si glanced at her and continued, "Every time there's a problem with my health, Lingzhu's tolerance toward me increases significantly."

"Look, now she's willing to be with me."

You Xiaoxiao's brows furrowed slightly. "What if Yin Lingzhu finds out?"

After Yan Si confirmed there were no flaws in the report, she looked at You Xiaoxiao.

"Just don't let her find out." Yan Si's tone carried complete confidence, as if victory was already assured.

You Xiaoxiao sensed Yan Si's attitude and felt a bit panicked.

"Are you sure?"

Yan Si's fingers tapped on the diagnosis report on the table, the sound making You Xiaoxiao's heart jump.

"I'm sure. Have you heard of boiling a frog in warm water²?" Yan Si's voice carried determination and a hint of seduction.

You Xiaoxiao nodded, but her eyes still revealed some distrust.

"You're supposedly suffering from pancreatic cancer—the cancer with the highest mortality rate. Aren't you afraid you won't be able to explain your way out of this?"

Yan Si's finger pointed to a spot on the report that read: Mid-stage.

"As long as Lingzhu is with me every day now, sooner or later she'll get used to my presence."

Seeing such a confident Yan Si and hearing her method, You Xiaoxiao thought of someone.

"That Ji Jingrong³ from before seemed to have this plan too, but didn't she also fail?"

After discovering Ji Jingrong's existence that night, Yan Si immediately had You Xiaoxiao investigate her past.

You Xiaoxiao naturally knew about her situation too.

After hearing the three words "Ji Jingrong," Yan Si's mouth curved into a contemptuous smile.

A cold voice echoed in the room: "Her? Lingzhu only ever saw her as a friend. No matter how hard she tried, it was all wasted effort."

Seeing that Yan Si now wouldn't listen to anything, You Xiaoxiao could only nod. "You should control the extent of this yourself."

You Xiaoxiao still had an ominous premonition in her heart.

Yan Si had been intoxicated by Yin Lingzhu's closeness and couldn't listen to any advice.

You Xiaoxiao knew that no matter how much she tried to persuade her, it would be useless.

"Go out. Yin Lingzhu is waiting for you outside."

Looking at Yan Si's pale complexion, You Xiaoxiao couldn't help but sigh. Yan Si had really prepared thoroughly for this act.

However, with Yan Si's acting skills, the possibility of being exposed in the performance was very small.

You Xiaoxiao narrowed her eyes, carefully thinking about the loopholes in this charade.

Footnotes:

¹ Waist dimples (腰窩): Small indentations on the lower back above the buttocks, considered an attractive physical feature in Chinese culture, sometimes called "dimples of Venus."

² Boiling a frog in warm water (溫水煮青蛙): A Chinese idiom describing a gradual process where someone doesn't notice dangerous changes because they happen slowly, like how a frog won't jump out of water that's gradually heated.

³ Ji Jingrong (季景容): This appears to be referring to a character from the alternate storyline/extra chapters, suggesting there may have been another person who tried similar manipulative tactics with Yin Lingzhu.