

Chapter 58-2

Yin Lingzhu returned to the hotel and put away the documents she had brought with her.

She sat on the bed, her gaze vacantly looking toward the window.

Her gaze was distant, looking far into the sky.

Yin Lingzhu sat like this for the entire afternoon. It wasn't until evening that she slowly came back from her memories.

Yin Lingzhu sighed and casually ordered takeout.

After waiting a little while, the takeout arrived.

Yin Lingzhu placed the takeout on the table and casually found a TV drama to play.

After eating, she picked up her phone, waiting for the director's message.

When she had arrived at the hotel, she had sent a message to the director.

She hadn't said much, only that the person she needed to take care of was now in good health, so her time had become free and she could continue filming.

But until now, she still hadn't received the director's reply.

Could it be that she had requested leave too frequently?

Yin Lingzhu thought this way, and her fingers gripping the phone became heavier.

But just as she was anxiously waiting, the director's message finally arrived.

【Little Yin, I just saw your message.】

Yin Lingzhu hurriedly typed in the chat box.

【It's no problem, Director.】

Before she could send the message she had typed, the director's second message came.

【If you can have time to film next, I'm also very happy.】

【Thank you, Director.】

Yin Lingzhu quickly expressed her thanks.

She could feel that ever since she had joined this crew, whether actively or passively, she had delayed the crew's time.

Therefore, she was also secretly worried whether the director would have any opinions about her.

The next day, Yin Lingzhu arrived at the crew very early.

But as soon as she entered, she discovered Ming Qingyun was inside.

And she was waiting at the door of her makeup room.

Yin Lingzhu had a bad premonition in her heart.

But she was still holding onto hope that she was overthinking.

When she walked to the makeup room door, she noticed that Ming Qingyun's gaze was indeed focused on her.

Yin Lingzhu's back stiffened, and she pretended not to notice, quickly entering the room.

When she was closing the door, it was suddenly blocked by Ming Qingyun's hand.

Looking at the four fingers that had reached in, Yin Lingzhu felt helpless.

To avoid injuring Ming Qingyun's hand, Yin Lingzhu had no choice but to open the door.

Ming Qingyun was still wearing a suit today.

Seeing Yin Lingzhu open the door for her, a smile appeared on Ming Qingyun's serious face.

But when Yin Lingzhu saw her like this, she felt a bit guilty.

Ming Qingyun keenly noticed her expression.

When she entered, she casually closed the door, blocking the prying eyes from outside.

Ming Qingyun looked at Yin Lingzhu, the smile at the corner of her mouth becoming more obvious.

"You remembered?"

Ming Qingyun's voice was very pleasant, like colliding jade, crisp and clear.

Yin Lingzhu instinctively wanted to say no, but she immediately realized there was no need.

Ming Qingyun had been by her side for a while and had never mentioned this matter. Now that she suddenly came to ask her, she must know something.

Yin Lingzhu nodded. "I remembered."

She looked at Ming Qingyun with some lack of confidence. This matter wasn't particularly big or small.

"Then, do you have anything to say to me now?" Ming Qingyun looked at her, her eyes hiding expectation and obsession.

Yin Lingzhu looked away, avoiding eye contact with her.

"Uh, what I needed to say, I already sent you a message about. There's nothing else now."

Ming Qingyun's smile disappeared. Obviously, she was very unsatisfied with this answer.

"A message sent out of nowhere a year ago?"

Hearing her say this, Yin Lingzhu raised her head with some self-abandonment.

"You knew what kind of person I was back then, yet you still wanted to be with me. You should have known this would be the consequence."

Yin Lingzhu's tone was ruthless.

In university, everyone in the same grade knew that Yin Lingzhu was famously a heartbreaker.

But even so, Ming Qingyun still chose to be with her.

Thinking of this, Yin Lingzhu made eye contact with Ming Qingyun.