

Chapter 59-2

Yin Lingzhu felt uncomfortable being stared at like this. She frowned, wanting to say something, but was interrupted by someone who suddenly burst in.

The two of them looked toward the door in unison.

Yan Si's hand was still gripping the door handle, her eyes quickly scanning the people in the room.

Finally, her gaze settled on Yin Lingzhu.

"Are you okay?" She looked at Yin Lingzhu and asked anxiously.

Yin Lingzhu looked at Yan Si, then glanced at Ming Qingyun, and lifted her feet to walk outside.

Now it seemed that Yan Si was determined to entangle herself with her.

And now with Ming Qingyun added to the mix, this kind of situation was something she had never encountered in all her years of living.

Yan Si's words were completely ignored, but she wasn't in a hurry.

She knew that if Yin Lingzhu wanted to leave, she would have to pass by her.

So when Yin Lingzhu walked toward her, Yan Si was also calculating the distance in her mind.

When Yin Lingzhu was about to reach her side, Yan Si couldn't help but reach out her hand.

Just as she was about to touch Yin Lingzhu, Yan Si grasped at empty air. She could clearly feel her fingertips brush against the corner of Yin Lingzhu's clothes.

After Yin Lingzhu dodged to the side, just as she was about to walk outside, she heard Yan Si's voice.

"Did Ming Qingyun do something to you?"

Yin Lingzhu didn't want to pay attention to her. Her steps didn't pause as she walked straight ahead.

Yan Si's heart tightened, but unwillingly, her hand reached out again.

"I want to say, I smelled Omega pheromones outside, so I was afraid something might have happened inside."

Only then did Yin Lingzhu stop. She firmly grabbed Yan Si's outstretched wrist.

"I don't want to see you at all right now. When will you understand this?"

Perhaps the emotions that hadn't exploded yesterday were finally erupting at this moment.

Yin Lingzhu violently shook off Yan Si's hand, seeing Yan Si's pained expression.

In her heart, satisfaction and pain were tangled together, but ultimately the former prevailed.

Yin Lingzhu glanced at Ming Qingyun standing nearby and walked to her side. "Do you see? I already have someone by my side now."

She reached out her hand, originally intending to put on a complete act and planning to hold Ming Qingyun's hand.

But Yin Lingzhu still couldn't get past that barrier in her heart. She coughed lightly and withdrew her hand, pretending nothing had happened.

"So I hope you won't come disturb me anymore."
