

Chapter 74-1

After Yin Lingzhu woke up, she looked at the camera in the room.

She had covered it with a cloth beforehand. Since she didn't know when the cameras were activated, she had never removed it.

So now she planned to leave it there, letting the cloth continue to block the camera.

Was it really necessary to install cameras in the rooms?

She casually brushed her messy hair, thinking to herself.

In the afternoon, the director didn't assign them any tasks—perhaps wanting to let them rest.

Yin Lingzhu thought as she casually found a chair to sit on, basking in the sunlight.

Wan Miaoyyin originally wanted to chat with her, but seeing Yin Lingzhu with her face tilted up, sunlight spilling across her face with an expression of pure enjoyment.

She smiled softly and sat in the chair next to Yin Lingzhu, copying her posture to sunbathe.

The sky was clear and cloudless, the sunlight bright and beautiful.

Time seemed to stand still in this moment.

Yin Lingzhu was feeling the warmth of the sunlight when she suddenly sensed someone walking in front of her, casting a large shadow that blocked the sun.

She opened her eyes with displeasure. The person in front of her was Li Li.

Due to what had happened before, she didn't have any good feelings toward this person.

"Is there something you need?"

Yin Lingzhu spoke indifferently and closed her eyes.

Instead, Wan Miaoyyin beside her sat up straight, watching Li Li with some wariness.

Li Li saw how Yin Lingzhu didn't take her seriously and secretly clenched her fists.

"We want to play a game and would like to invite you to join us."

Li Li put on a smile, though it felt quite forced¹.

Yin Lingzhu opened her eyes and looked in the direction Li Li pointed. Four people were already in the room.

She closed her eyes again. "Not going."

Li Li hadn't expected Yin Lingzhu to refuse so decisively and was obviously stunned for a moment.

But she immediately thought of a strategy. "Alright then, Xiao Luo² was hoping for more people to make it livelier."

Li Li was tall and burly, but at this moment, she actually showed a look of helplessness.

She lowered her head as if she had suffered a great injustice and slowly walked back.

Yin Lingzhu squinted through her eyelashes, seeing Li Li's appearance and feeling somewhat puzzled.

Wan Miaoyyin saw Li Li's behavior and felt an uneasy premonition.

Looking at Li Li's retreating figure, she felt a bit worried for Yin Lingzhu.

Li Li walked into the room and said something to Qin Luo. Qin Luo looked very angry.

He wanted to rush out, but Li Li stopped him.

Qin Luo looked at his boyfriend and stopped, but his eyes glared viciously at Yin Lingzhu.

Yin Lingzhu didn't notice, but Wan Miaoyyin, who had been watching Li Li, saw it.

She frowned. Seeing that Qin Luo made no other moves, she could only wait and see.

But recalling Qin Luo's look just now, her worry grew stronger.

Seeing that Wan Miaoyyin was sitting upright on the lounge chair with her gaze fixed on the room, Yin Lingzhu also looked toward the room.

Through the window, she could see five people gathered around a table with a beer bottle in the center.

It looked like they were just playing a normal game.

"Why watch them? Let's just comfortably sunbathe."

Yin Lingzhu closed her eyes and continued enjoying the sun's warmth.

Wan Miaoyyin remained sitting upright on the lounge chair, as if she hadn't heard anything.

When Yin Lingzhu didn't hear any movement, she opened her eyes to find Wan Miaoyyin still frozen in place with no intention of moving.

"They can play their game, and we can sunbathe. It's not related."

As Yin Lingzhu spoke, she pressed Wan Miaoyyin down onto the lounge chair.

Wan Miaoyyin lay on the chair but remained alert for quite a while.

After noticing they made no moves and were focused on their game, she also let down her guard.

The sun's warmth on one's body was cozy and made one's mood unconsciously improve.

Yin Lingzhu's lips also curved into a smile from the comfort.

Suddenly, cold water with impact force came pouring down from above, drenching Yin Lingzhu and Wan Miaoyyin completely.

Yin Lingzhu's good mood was instantly interrupted. She opened her eyes to find her shirt completely soaked through.

Fortunately, she was wearing a black, somewhat thick shirt, so nothing inappropriate would be visible.

She immediately turned to look at Wan Miaoyyin, remembering that she was wearing a dress.

Indeed, Wan Miaoyyin's white dress was completely molded to her figure, revealing her curves.

Yin Lingzhu frowned and decisively took off her jacket to drape over Wan Miaoyyin.

Only after doing this did she look toward the culprit.

"Are you sick? Drenching people in broad daylight." Yin Lingzhu was so angry her chest kept heaving, and she couldn't help cursing.

Qin Luo held the water hose, looking at Yin Lingzhu with a malicious smile.

"We were playing a game. We hope you don't mind."

Qin Luo spoke carelessly, but his face showed no remorse whatsoever.

Yin Lingzhu showed no courtesy at all. She quickly walked up to Qin Luo.

"Say that again."

Yin Lingzhu's eyes were fierce. Where Qin Luo couldn't see, her hands were already prepared.

Qin Luo was startled by her and stepped back. Li Li immediately walked forward several steps, blocking Yin Lingzhu.

"What are you doing? Xiao Luo didn't mean it." Li Li immediately defended Qin Luo. "He lost the game and had no choice but to spray you."

Hearing Li Li's words, Yin Lingzhu kicked the water hose into the air and caught it with her hands.

"Is that so? Then you should try it too."

Yin Lingzhu turned the hose's switch to maximum, and ice-cold water immediately sprayed out.

She aimed at Li Li, and a large amount of water instantly soaked through Li Li's body.

Li Li immediately lost her composure and tried to snatch the hose from Yin Lingzhu's hands.

But Yin Lingzhu nimbly dodged her grasp and said with a cold laugh, "I also lost a game, so please don't mind."

Seeing her attempt fail, Li Li immediately ran into the house, trying to avoid the water from Yin Lingzhu's hose.

"Fuck, are you having a nervous breakdown or something?"

Li Li cursed while running.

The water shooting from the hose was not only cold but also painful when it hit one's skin.

Yin Lingzhu watched Li Li's panicked escape and felt some of her anger vent.

"What? The same excuse works when you say it, but not when I do?" Yin Lingzhu said mockingly.

Hearing this, Li Li gritted her back teeth and slammed the door shut.

Seeing the closed door, Yin Lingzhu immediately stepped forward and kicked it open.

She pointed the hose at the ground by her feet and surveyed the room.

This room appeared to be unfinished—the walls weren't painted, and most importantly, there was no electricity.

Yin Lingzhu saw the exposed wires on the wall and chuckled.

Good, no electricity meant no major damage would be caused.

Footnotes:

¹ Forced smile: The Chinese idiom "皮笑肉不笑" literally means "skin laughs but flesh doesn't," describing a fake or insincere smile.

² Xiao Luo: A diminutive/affectionate way of addressing Qin Luo. "Xiao" (小) is a common prefix meaning "little" used before names to show intimacy or informality.