

Chapter 77-2

After walking out the door, You Xiaoxiao finally let go of Ming Qingyun.

"What are you doing? She's actually so arrogant."

Ming Qingyun pointed angrily at the apartment door. "If it weren't for Lingzhu, who would want to come here?"

You Xiaoxiao hurriedly helped her calm down while smoothing out the wrinkles on Ming Qingyun's suit.

"Calm down. Lawyers always have a bit of arrogance about them."

You Xiaoxiao comforted her from the side, and Ming Qingyun's rationality gradually returned.

She also knew that being with Ji Jingrong would greatly increase the chances of seeing Yin Lingzhu.

She glanced at the door and adjusted her already neat suit to be even more wrinkle-free.

"We'll come again tomorrow."

The two then walked toward the elevator.

"You didn't tell Yan Si the news about Ji Jingrong's return, did you?"

"No."

You Xiaoxiao's eyes were full of bitterness. She had originally intended to say something that day.

But Yan Si's lie made her brain unable to remember anything, so naturally this news didn't reach Yan Si's ears either.

"Good that you didn't. You need to know that since you've chosen to stand on my side, don't have any relationship with Yan Si anymore."

You Xiaoxiao let out an ambiguous laugh. "Naturally, since I'm following President Ming¹, I'll naturally serve President Ming wholeheartedly."

You Xiaoxiao walked behind Ming Qingyun and got on the elevator.

After they left the room, Ji Jingrong opened up Yin Lingzhu's previous singing show to watch.

She knew Ming Qingyun's purpose, but why should she agree?

She could see that Ming Qingyun also liked Yin Lingzhu.

So why should she cooperate with her romantic rival?

Ji Jingrong snorted coldly and focused on watching Yin Lingzhu singing on her phone.

Separated by a wall, in another apartment room, the living room TV was also on, also showing a black screen.

Yan Si sat there blankly looking at the TV, her mind filled with memories all about Yin Lingzhu.

But she sadly discovered that her contact with Yin Lingzhu had been so little. Most of her time had been spent watching Yin Lingzhu through that unspeakable surveillance system².

She saw Yin Lingzhu waiting for her, watched Yin Lingzhu cook for her, watched Yin Lingzhu wash clothes, hang clothes, collect clothes.

She watched herself stand up Yin Lingzhu.

The apartment lobby lights were so bright, so why did she feel so cold?

Yan Si hugged her shoulders and curled up on the sofa.

The room was so cold.

Nian Nian³ came out of Yin Lingzhu's bedroom and discovered Yan Si on the sofa.

It could sense the sadness emanating from Yan Si.

Nian Nian picked up its favorite ball with its mouth, wanting to put it in Yan Si's hands.

But Yan Si didn't take it.

Nian Nian watched the ball roll off the sofa again and tilted its head looking at Yan Si.

When it was unhappy, playing with the ball made it happy.

So it thought Yan Si was the same way.

This human was so sad, playing with the ball would make her happy.

Nian Nian nudged Yan Si's hand with its head, making her look at it.

Then it bit the ball with its mouth, threw it hard, chased after the ball, and finally caught the ball that had fallen to the ground.

Nian Nian whimpered twice and put the ball in Yan Si's hands again.

Yan Si looked at Nian Nian woodenly, her eyes vacant.

Nian Nian put down the ball and brought over a small cat toy, placing it in Yan Si's hands.

It climbed onto the sofa and nestled obediently beside Yan Si.

Its warm body pressed against Yan Si's calves and feet, bringing her a little bit of warmth.

She turned her head and stared motionlessly at Nian Nian. At this moment, she suddenly realized what the previous Scottish Fold cat had meant.

She buried her head in Nian Nian's body, and soon, a patch of Nian Nian's fur became wet.

Yan Si's guilt seemed to drown her like the sea.

If she could go back to the past, she swore that no matter what the situation, she would never hurt Yin Lingzhu even a tiny bit.

In the empty room, only Yan Si's suppressed crying could be heard.

The next morning, Yin Lingzhu looked at the building in front of her with some confusion.

What did the production team bring them here for?

[Your task today is to protect your partner and become the final victor.]

The director's voice rang out, and task cards were handed to the eight people.

Yin Lingzhu quickly skimmed through it and understood the production team's arrangement.

Each team would receive a badge, and after discussion, they would choose which person to stick it on.

Each team of partners would also be assigned a water gun. If the water from the gun sprayed onto the badge, the partner holding the badge would be eliminated.

The building behind them was where they could hide and attack.

Yin Lingzhu was the first to step forward and take the water gun and badge.

The water gun she received was only about the size of a palm.

Yin Lingzhu looked at the water gun in Li Li's hands, which was more than twice the size of hers.

Her gaze also glanced at Qin Luo, and she noticed that Qin Luo didn't look very happy.

Yin Lingzhu looked at the other two teams. Qin Luo's team had the largest water guns, yet he still wasn't satisfied?

She quietly noted this detail.

After the director gave the signal, the four teams of partners entered the building.

Yin Lingzhu stretched out both hands, with the water gun and badge lying in her palms respectively.

"Which one do you want?"

Footnotes:

¹ President Ming: Ming Qingyun's business title, showing her high status in the corporate world.

² Surveillance system: This refers to earlier mentions in the story of Yan Si having cameras installed to monitor Yin Lingzhu, which was part of her controlling and invasive behavior during their marriage.

³ Nian Nian (年年): The name of a cat/pet that Yan Si currently has. The name means "year after year" in Chinese, often used to express wishes for continuity and prosperity.