

Chapter 83-1

Yin Lingzhu seemed to sense something and glanced at the camera's position.

But aside from seeing the glass lens, she couldn't see anything else.

Yin Lingzhu turned her head back, thinking she was overthinking.

Her look toward the camera was also faithfully recorded in the footage.

On the screen in front of Yan Si, Yin Lingzhu's face was displayed clearly.

The assistant director beside Yan Si felt this was an opportunity and immediately spoke obsequiously.

"President Yan, if you want to see her, you could go to the scene."

Yan Si's good mood was suddenly interrupted by the assistant director's voice.

"Get him out."

Yan Si's tone was calm as she waved her hand.

The bodyguard immediately walked to the assistant director's side, grabbed his arm, and escorted him out of the room.

Yan Si's ears regained their peace.

She narrowed her eyes with satisfaction and looked carefully at Yin Lingzhu on the screen again.

Just as Yin Lingzhu's gaze moved away from the camera, she suddenly caught sight of a figure darting out with her peripheral vision.

She reacted quickly, raising the water gun in her hand.

Wan Miaoyin looked at the Beta in front of her and gave her a meaningful look.

The Beta successfully received this signal.

She began to look seriously at Wan Miaoyin in front of her, no longer planning to hold back.

Wan Miaoyin saw the expression on her face and knew she had misunderstood her meaning again.

This Beta was named Wang Qingran¹, someone she had specifically chosen to accompany her in acting on this show.

But she hadn't expected Wang Qingran's brain to be so wooden.

Wan Miaoyin felt very anxious. Looking at the people in front of her who were already spraying each other with water guns, she couldn't think of a solution for the moment.

Yin Lingzhu also felt very anxious. She could sense that Wang Qingran in front of her was very troublesome.

Winning probably wouldn't be that easy.

Yin Lingzhu thought secretly to herself, watching Wang Qingran approach her warily.

Wang Qingran also sensed Yin Lingzhu's mindset. She turned her water gun and shot at Wan Miaoyin.

Yin Lingzhu hadn't expected this move and could only quickly block in front of Wan Miaoyin.

It didn't matter if she got wet, but if Wan Miaoyin's badge got wet, that would be trouble.

Yin Lingzhu could clearly feel the water stream hit her body.

Her tense heart relaxed slightly.

She looked at the distance between herself and Wan Miaoyin - less than a meter.

But just as she turned her head, Wang Qingran fired another shot.

Yin Lingzhu could clearly see the water stream shooting out from the gun.

It even grazed her shoulder, flying toward the person behind her.

Yin Lingzhu could only turn around as quickly as possible. Seeing she wouldn't make it in time, she tackled Wan Miaoyin.

So Yin Lingzhu and Wan Miaoyin both fell to the ground together.

Wang Qingran saw Wan Miaoyin also fall to the ground and suddenly felt like she had done something wrong.

Wan Miaoyin also hadn't expected Yin Lingzhu to tackle her.

She thought she would hit the floor, but unexpectedly, Yin Lingzhu's arm cushioned her back.

With a "bang," Yin Lingzhu's arm hit the ground hard.

Wan Miaoyin was almost held in Yin Lingzhu's embrace. If not for hearing Yin Lingzhu's cry of pain, she wouldn't have wanted to get up.

Yin Lingzhu only felt a piercing pain in her forearm. Her face immediately scrunched up.

Wan Miaoyin hurriedly got up and reached out to help Yin Lingzhu up.

But Yin Lingzhu was still worried about the badge, her eyes looking at Wan Miaoyin's arm.

"The badge still got wet after all."

Wan Miaoyin had no time to care about winning or losing the game. She tried touching Yin Lingzhu's arm.

"Can you still move it?"

Yin Lingzhu's face scrunched up even more from the pain, but she still shook her head. "It's fine, it'll probably be better in a while."

Wan Miaoyin looked at her expression and didn't believe her words at all.

"I'll go call a doctor for you."

Wan Miaoyin stood up. Seeing that the cameras were still filming non-stop, she felt a bit angry.

"Someone's injured here. Where are the doctors arranged by the production team?"

Wan Miaoyin's tone was unfriendly, and the cameraman heard it too.

"Wait a moment, they've already been notified."

One cameraman replied.

Wan Miaoyin didn't have her phone with her, so she could only trust the cameraman's words.

She helped Yin Lingzhu sit on a chair.

**

The moment Yin Lingzhu fell, Yan Si immediately sprang up from her seat.

She instinctively wanted to go to Yin Lingzhu's side.

But just as she stepped forward, she suddenly realized she couldn't do that.

Yin Lingzhu didn't want to see her right now.

Yan Si gripped the door handle, trembling as she closed the door.

She looked at the director in the room. "How long until the medical staff arrive?"

The director trembled, not daring to tell the truth.

"Very soon, very soon. President Yan, please don't worry."

The director prayed in his heart that the medical team's relatives would notice something had happened today.

Yan Si's brow was tightly furrowed. Looking at Yin Lingzhu's pained expression on the screen, her face was full of worry.

Footnotes:

¹ Wang Qingran (王清然) - This character's name literally means "Wang Clear/Pure" suggesting someone who might appear innocent but is actually being used as a pawn in Wan Miaoyin's scheme.

