

Chapter 83-2

Yin Lingzhu and Wan Miaoyin waited for a long time but never saw the doctor the cameraman mentioned.

Seeing Yin Lingzhu's increasingly pained expression, Wan Miaoyin couldn't sit still any longer.

"Did you actually call for a doctor or not?"

The cameramen looked at each other, none daring to speak.

【Such a big production, surely they don't not have a doctor?】

【I think so too, feels like the cameraman is bluffing them.】

【Seeing Zhuzi¹ injured makes me so heartbroken.】

【Damn, is Yin Lingzhu's arm turning red and purple?】

【Really, it looks so serious.】

Yan Si saw these comments and became increasingly anxious.

When she saw the last comment, Yan Si couldn't sit still anymore.

She couldn't care less about whether Yin Lingzhu would hate her, and hurriedly ran out.

Seeing this, the director wanted to stop Yan Si.

He had already called and spoken to the medical team.

But Yan Si just glanced at him once, and he didn't dare say anything.

The director regretted deeply in his heart. If he had known this would happen, he would have arranged better staff for the medical room.

Yan Si rushed to Yin Lingzhu's side in one breath, but when she saw Yin Lingzhu, she didn't know what to say.

Yin Lingzhu also noticed Yan Si.

She didn't know what Yan Si was doing here, so she turned her head to the side where she couldn't see Yan Si.

Seeing her attitude, Yan Si felt as if her heart was being stabbed viciously.

Wan Miaoyin also noticed Yan Si. "Lingzhu's hand is probably seriously injured. She needs to be taken to the hospital immediately."

Yan Si nodded. "My car is already prepared."

Hearing Yan Si say this, Wan Miaoyin turned to look at Yin Lingzhu.

But she saw Yin Lingzhu looking at her strangely.

Wan Miaoyin's heart skipped a beat, but she still forced herself to remain calm. "We met before participating in the show."

Yin Lingzhu made an "mm" sound and didn't speak.

Yan Si was extremely anxious in her heart, afraid that Yin Lingzhu would make a fuss at this moment.

Wan Miaoyin had the same worry.

"Lingzhu, President Yan has already prepared the car. Let's go."

When Wan Miaoyin said the words "President Yan," her voice was a bit awkward.

Yin Lingzhu didn't notice, but Yan Si did.

Yan Si glanced at Wan Miaoyin, but her gaze quickly returned to Yin Lingzhu.

She was extremely anxious inside but didn't dare say much.

She was afraid her words would have the opposite effect.

Yin Lingzhu indeed felt a bit uncomfortable inside.

Regarding Yan Si, she really didn't want to see her anymore.

But fate seemed to be constantly putting them together.

Thinking about this, Yin Lingzhu suddenly felt her arm hurt even more.

She looked at Yan Si.

"Then I'll trouble President Yan."

Yin Lingzhu's expressionless sentence made Yan Si's heart bloom with joy.

"No trouble, no trouble at all."

Yan Si said hurriedly.

The cameramen filmed all the way until Yin Lingzhu got in the car, then they stopped recording.

【Who did I see? Is that person Yan Si?】

【I was a bit suspicious at first, but now I'm certain, it's Yan Si.】

【That's right, I even looked it up. The company that owns this show is actually opened by Yan Si.】

【No wonder Yan Si suddenly appeared.】

【But I feel the atmosphere between Yan Si and Zhuzi was weird.】

【Agree with above, me too. I think there's definitely a story between them.】

Ji Jingrong watched Yan Si take Yin Lingzhu away, her heart feeling like a jar of aged vinegar had been smashed.

Especially looking at the comments on screen, the sourness in her heart was about to overflow.

Ji Jingrong suddenly felt a sense of crisis rising in her heart.

If she didn't do something, she was really going to lose Yin Lingzhu.

Thinking of this, her originally hesitant heart became firm.

She opened her drawer and took out the business card Ming Qingyun had given her.

Looking at the number on it, she gripped her phone tightly, then slowly loosened her grip.

She sent a message to the owner of this number.

【I agree.】

After sending this message, she put her phone on the desk.

Ji Jingrong stared blankly at the phone until the light on the screen automatically dimmed.

At the hospital.

Yin Lingzhu went into the ward for examination while Yan Si and Wan Miaoyin waited outside.

Both of them nervously watched the ward door, hoping that Yin Lingzhu's body had no problems.

After the doctor came out, they looked at him nervously.

"The patient has a fractured arm and needs surgery plus hospitalization for a period of time."

The moment Wan Miaoyin heard "arm fracture," her face went pale.

The doctor noticed this and comforted her gently.

"But it won't take long, about a week or so. You don't need to worry too much."

Wan Miaoyin nodded despondently. "I understand."

When Yan Si heard about the fracture, her heart also skipped a beat.

But when she noticed the doctor mentioned surgery, she immediately went to pay the fees and prepare a hospital room.

Wan Miaoyin waited for Yin Lingzhu to come out.

The moment Yin Lingzhu came out, she noticed Wan Miaoyin's pale complexion.

She smiled. "I'm fine. The doctor told me everything. I'll be fine after the surgery."

Wan Miaoyin looked at Yin Lingzhu's smile and felt even more upset.

"I'm sorry, it's all my fault. I caused your arm fracture."

Yin Lingzhu's smile didn't change. "This is my problem, not yours."

"I was the one showing off, even saying I'd go easy on Wang Qingran, and now I've ended up in the hospital myself."

Footnotes:

¹ Zhuzi (竹子) - A cute nickname for Yin Lingzhu used by fans/viewers, literally meaning "bamboo" which comes from the "竹" (zhu) character in her name "靈竹" (Lingzhu).