

Chapter 93-2

---

Lying on the hotel bed, Yin Lingzhu's mind was still replaying Yan Si's expression from just moments ago.

What should have been a good trip to relax was ruined by Yan Si's disruption of the atmosphere.

Thinking about this, Yin Lingzhu felt another layer of anger toward Yan Si.

On the other side, after Yin Lingzhu told Yan Si not to follow her, Yan Si really didn't follow her anymore.

Yan Si had originally wanted to book a room at Yin Lingzhu's hotel as well, but suddenly there was an emergency at the domestic company, and Yan Si had to return home.

Sitting alone on the plane, Yan Si looked through the window at the clouds outside.

She was also wondering: if she died, would Yin Lingzhu forgive her?

If the mistakes she had made in the past could be remedied, she would be willing to use everything to make amends, even her life.

Yan Si had already made up her mind at this moment—after resolving the company's affairs, she would give her life to Yin Lingzhu.

After getting off the plane, Yan Si immediately saw her assistant, whose face showed great anxiety.

Yan Si was also secretly surprised. This assistant had been by her side for many years; she shouldn't be showing her emotions so openly.

The assistant also spotted Yan Si immediately and ran to her side like she had seen a lifeline.

"President Yan, Miss You suddenly produced share certificates."

"Now, the company shares she owns have reached over fifty percent."

Hearing this, Yan Si frowned. She hadn't expected the situation to become this serious.

Yan Corporation was the first company she had founded herself, so she had poured all her heart and soul into it.

"Are you talking about You Xiaoxiao?"

The assistant nodded seriously.

Yan Si felt even more depressed. She hadn't expected You Xiaoxiao to betray her.

And to do it so ruthlessly.

Back at the company, You Xiaoxiao was already waiting for her in Yan Si's office.

Seeing Yan Si's arrival, You Xiaoxiao showed no surprise on her face.

"Sorry about this, President Yan."

You Xiaoxiao's face was expressionless, just stating a fact.

Right after she finished speaking, Ming Qingyun pushed the door open.

Ming Qingyun exuded smugness from inside out, especially when looking at Yan Si—the gloating in her eyes was even more obvious.

"How about that? Didn't expect this, did you? You have your day too."

Yan Si looked at Ming Qingyun, then at You Xiaoxiao standing in front of her.

She already understood what was happening.

She hadn't expected You Xiaoxiao to actually be working with Ming Qingyun.

Perhaps because Yan Si rarely showed her emotions so openly, her expression particularly delighted Ming Qingyun.

"Yan Si, oh Yan Si, let's see what you do this time."

Ming Qingyun sat in Yan Si's chair, putting her legs up on the desk in front of her.

Her arrogant behavior angered Yan Si's assistant.

"What are you doing?"

Her voice, full of anger, didn't elicit any reaction from Ming Qingyun.

Ming Qingyun glanced at her sideways, not even moving her feet.

"Who are you? Is it your turn to talk to me?"

After saying this, Ming Qingyun looked at Yan Si again, the corner of her mouth lifting slightly.

"What do you say?"

Yan Si looked at her and suddenly smiled.

"You don't really think you can actually win this company, do you?"

Her words made Ming Qingyun's smug expression freeze.

But she immediately looked back at You Xiaoxiao behind her. Seeing You Xiaoxiao nod, she felt reassured.

She raised an eyebrow, indicating for Yan Si to continue.

However, Ming Qingyun's expression clearly showed disbelief, with a look that said "I'm watching you make things up."

Yan Si just smiled. This company was something she had built from the ground up, and she definitely trusted the people inside.

This was also why Yan Si was so confident.

If she couldn't trust the people she had personally cultivated, then who could she trust?

Yan Si's overly confident expression made Ming Qingyun's heart suddenly panic.

But she had personally reviewed the share transfer contracts and confirmed that the shares exceeded fifty percent.

That's why she had come here.

Right in front of them, Yan Si opened her phone and made a call.

You Xiaoxiao could see the number on the screen, her pupils contracting tightly.

This number was very familiar to her.

When contacting shareholders, this person held the largest stake and was the most difficult to deal with.

She had spent a long time convincing this person to agree.

Yan Si put the call on speaker.

As soon as the call connected, a respectful voice came through.

"President Yan, is there anything you need?"

Yan Si got straight to the point, "Your shares."

The other side immediately understood, their voice becoming even more respectful.

"Please rest assured, the shares on my end are definitely being well protected."

Yan Si said "mm" and hung up the phone.

She looked at You Xiaoxiao, her tone very certain, "Did you carefully check the contract in your hands?"

You Xiaoxiao had originally wanted to nod, but suddenly remembered that she had been too excited about this share contract and hadn't examined it carefully.

Her eyes suddenly widened, pupils trembling wildly.

Ming Qingyun had been observing her and, seeing You Xiaoxiao's expression, naturally knew what had happened.

Ming Qingyun glanced at Yan Si and reluctantly got up from the chair.

When leaving, she slammed the door hard, making a loud bang.

After realizing what had happened, You Xiaoxiao felt very sad.

"You deceived me again."

Yan Si looked at her, not knowing what she should say.

What did she want to say back then?

Regarding You Xiaoxiao, her feelings were equally complex.

You Xiaoxiao was essentially her childhood friend, and regardless of family background or other reasons, You Xiaoxiao had helped her a lot.

This was something Yan Si couldn't deny.

Thinking of the birthday gift she still hadn't given out, Yan Si's eyes dimmed.

You Xiaoxiao looked at the expressionless Yan Si, and when leaving the room, she deliberately bumped hard into Yan Si's shoulder.

Yan Si didn't look at her either. Once upon a time, she might have softened toward You Xiaoxiao, but now, You Xiaoxiao had threatened her interests.

Moreover, this action was even intended to destroy Yan Si completely.

Thinking of this, Yan Si's heart suddenly felt a bit uncomfortable.

Seeing that Yan Si's emotions were off, the assistant quietly left without disturbing her.

After a long while, the assistant who had been waiting outside suddenly received a message from Yan Si.

She frowned, carefully reading the words on her phone.

President Yan said to transfer the company to Yin Lingzhu?

After understanding the content of this message, the assistant even thought Yan Si's brain had problems.

Such a big company, just handed over to someone else.

The next moment, Yan Si came out of the office.

The assistant held up her phone, showing Yan Si's message on the screen.

She confirmed with Yan Si that this message was indeed sent by Yan Si herself.

The assistant also knew this possibility was extremely slim, but she still couldn't believe Yan Si would actually do such a thing.

Yan Si didn't care what the assistant was thinking, "Let's go sign the contract."

The assistant followed behind Yan Si in a daze, her mind completely occupied by what had just happened.

Yan Si had already prepared the contract beforehand and now needed to go to the notary office for share transfer notarization.

Only after Yan Si had notarized all her assets, signed contracts, and made her will would she willingly go to her death.

After spending a day in the country handling affairs, when Yan Si flew back to Yin Lingzhu's side, it was already four or five in the morning.

After searching around, Yan Si finally found Yin Lingzhu near the hotel.
