

Chapter 94-2

At noon, Yan Si had a good rest, knowing that her body was still very important to Yin Lingzhu.

Just as Yan Si had rested well and was about to enter the operating room, she was stopped by someone.

"Hello, this operating room has already been reserved by someone."

Yan Si was about to lose her temper when Qin Ruri¹ suddenly appeared.

"Oh, President Yan, sorry about that. I've already acquired this hospital building."

Qin Ruri's tone was full of schadenfreude.

Yan Si looked at Qin Ruri, who stared back at her without any courtesy.

Through their exchange of glances, Yan Si knew that Qin Ruri would definitely not allow her to perform the surgery here.

But as someone who had also researched glands, Yan Si clearly knew that the equipment at other hospitals couldn't perform this surgery.

Yan Si gritted her teeth.

"Let's go."

She squeezed out those words.

In the villa, You Xiaoxiao looked at the complete set of instruments and equipment inside.

"I originally wanted to give this to you as a birthday present."

Yan Si explained quietly from the side.

The shock on You Xiaoxiao's face hadn't yet disappeared. When she heard Yan Si say this was for her birthday, she became even more surprised.

"You still remember my birthday?"

Yan Si nodded.

"Every year I prepare your gift. It's just that this year I haven't given it out yet."

At this moment, You Xiaoxiao's heart could not be described as merely turbulent.

She pointed to the instrument in the center of the villa, which was exactly what they needed.

"You and she should lie down, but I don't have much confidence in this surgery either."

You Xiaoxiao stated this fact.

Yan Si also knew this. She nodded.

"Just do your best to save her. Don't worry about me."

You Xiaoxiao lowered her eyes, pretending not to hear that sentence.

Even after what had happened, You Xiaoxiao didn't want Yan Si to be hurt in the slightest.

Yan Si saw You Xiaoxiao's hesitation and smiled quite freely.

"My life was originally saved by her, wasn't it? If I die and can save her, I should feel fortunate."

Yan Si's tone suddenly became firm. "No matter what, you must save her."

You Xiaoxiao saw Yan Si's attitude and could only nod in agreement.

"Alright."

Seeing that she agreed, Yan Si focused her gaze back on Yin Lingzhu.

It wasn't until the surgery was about to begin that Yan Si finally looked away.

She wanted to deeply engrave Yin Lingzhu's appearance in her heart.

If she really died on the operating table, she hoped that Yin Lingzhu could remember her at some moment in the future.

Even if it was just for an instant, that would be enough.

Yan Si's lips curved into a smile, carrying the determination of facing death without fear.

You Xiaoxiao saw Yan Si's intention and patted her shoulder. "Don't worry, I won't let you die."

Yan Si nodded at her.

You Xiaoxiao had both of them lie on the operating tables and began the surgery.

As she operated the machine, cold sweat continuously seeped from her forehead.

She knew she had to keep both people alive.

Moreover, she had to pay the appropriate price for her own mistakes.

You Xiaoxiao looked at the two unconscious people and strengthened her resolve to cure Yin Lingzhu.

Just like that, You Xiaoxiao stood in front of the machine for two hours, not daring to relax in the slightest.

It wasn't until Yan Si's pheromones and Yin Lingzhu's pheromones successfully established a connection that she finally relaxed her nerves.

She knew she had succeeded.

You Xiaoxiao now only waited for the two people to wake up.

Yin Lingzhu woke up before Yan Si. She looked around at her surroundings with some confusion.

Her memory was still stuck on the scene when she was having her examination at the hospital earlier.

You Xiaoxiao looked at Yin Lingzhu and began to explain.

"Your body is fine now."

Yin Lingzhu unconsciously nodded somewhat blankly, but she immediately reacted and looked at You Xiaoxiao with wariness.

"How did I end up here?"

You Xiaoxiao had placed the two people in separate rooms, so when Yin Lingzhu woke up, she didn't see Yan Si.

She touched her neck, looking at You Xiaoxiao with suspicion.

You Xiaoxiao looked away, avoiding eye contact with Yin Lingzhu.

"Haven't you noticed that the pain that had been constantly plaguing your neck has disappeared?"

After her reminder, Yin Lingzhu suddenly realized that this phenomenon had indeed disappeared.

Combined with You Xiaoxiao's reaction, she suddenly felt a bit guilty.

She was about to open her mouth to apologize when You Xiaoxiao spoke first.

"You should go see Yan Si."

After hearing those two words, Yin Lingzhu instinctively wanted to avoid.

"Okay, I'll go see her when I have time."

She got down from the bed, planning to return to her hotel.

You Xiaoxiao also knew that Yin Lingzhu didn't want to see Yan Si, but she also knew that Yan Si really wanted to see Yin Lingzhu.

"She almost gave up her own life for you."

You Xiaoxiao said with some anger.

After hearing what she said, Yin Lingzhu was also somewhat shocked.

"What are you saying?" Yin Lingzhu stared at You Xiaoxiao, frowning tightly.

You Xiaoxiao didn't avoid the topic and told her everything that had happened today.

After learning about the danger of this surgery, Yin Lingzhu's eyes widened.

"Was it really that serious?"

Seeing that Yin Lingzhu still seemed somewhat disbelieving, You Xiaoxiao emphasized again the importance of glands to Yin Lingzhu.

When she learned that she had almost died, Yin Lingzhu's heart still held lingering fear.

Yet Yin Lingzhu's movements putting on her shoes were unusually smooth.

"Where is she?"

You Xiaoxiao took a moment to react before understanding who Yin Lingzhu was referring to.

You Xiaoxiao pointed in a direction for Yin Lingzhu.

"Thank you."

Yin Lingzhu quickly thanked her and hurried toward Yan Si's room.

Yin Lingzhu pushed open the door and immediately saw Yan Si lying on the bed with a pale face.

You Xiaoxiao followed behind her.

"She was willing to give up her own life for you. Stop being angry with her."

You Xiaoxiao said this hoping that Yin Lingzhu could forgive Yan Si.

But what she didn't expect was that after hearing this sentence, Yin Lingzhu suddenly became angry.

Footnotes:

¹ Qin Ruri (秦如日): A new character name that appears in this chapter, likely an antagonist who has interfered with the surgery by purchasing the hospital building.