

Chapter 96

The atmosphere froze for a moment.

Qin Ruri laughed heartily. "Just joking with President Ming, don't mind it."

After hearing Qin Ruri say this, Ming Qingyun's eyes turned cold.

This matter was also something she had no choice about.

If she missed this opportunity, who knew when she would encounter another one.

Ming Qingyun snorted and said nothing.

Qin Ruri looked at Ming Qingyun in front of him, smiling unrestrained.

What he wanted wasn't just one company under Yan Si, but all the companies in Yan Si's hands.

If possible, he also wanted to take a bite out of Ming Qingyun's flesh.

His gaze was too presumptuous. Ming Qingyun looked at Qin Ruri. "Keep your inappropriate thoughts to yourself."

But Qin Ruri didn't look away.

He smiled, the flesh on his face bunching together, showing some greasiness.

Ming Qingyun saw this, her eyes obviously filled with disgust.

Qin Ruri acted as if he hadn't seen Ming Qingyun's revulsion. He chuckled, "My eldest son - if you like him, he can be your underground lover."

His words instantly made Ming Qingyun feel nauseous.

She understood what Qin Ruri meant, which made her even more disgusted with him.

She curved her lips with sarcastic meaning. "Eldest son? What about your second son?"

When Qin Ruri heard her mention Qin Luo¹, his smiling face stiffened.

"How can Qin Luo compare to Qin Qi²?"

Hearing Qin Ruri say this, the sarcasm in Ming Qingyun's eyes almost overflowed.

"Mind your own business, don't try to manage me."

She said coldly.

Ming Qingyun's gaze was like it had been poisoned, full of gloom.

Her mood was extremely irritated now.

Because she wasn't clear whether Yin Lingzhu would really have an accident.

What if Lingzhu didn't make it through...

Ming Qingyun suddenly clenched her fists tightly.

Impossible. Yan Si would definitely save her.

Ming Qingyun frowned, her heart panicking severely.

Early this morning, You Xiaoxiao had sent her a message, and her acquisition of this hospital was also at a critical moment.

So she was very clear about Yin Lingzhu's physical condition.

In other words, if Yin Lingzhu really died, then she would be the main culprit.

Ming Qingyun was so frightened by her own thoughts that she suddenly stepped back two steps.

This couldn't happen.

Ming Qingyun rushed out of the office, wanting to find Yin Lingzhu.

But when she stood in the center of the corridor, looking around somewhat bewildered, she actually didn't know where Yan Si had taken Yin Lingzhu.

Qin Ruri watched Ming Qingyun rush out anxiously, then return dejected, with a smirk.

He had also sent people out to search before, but they hadn't found anything.

Qin Ruri looked at Ming Qingyun in front of him. "It's just an Alpha. As long as we get Yan Si's properties, what kind of person won't we have?"

Ming Qingyun sat down and glanced at him sideways.

She was so anxious now that she didn't want to say a word.

After leaving the villa, Yan Si quickly rushed to the hospital.

Since Qin Ruri could acquire the hospital, then she could equally buy the hospital back.

Yan Si's eyes were fierce, and her orders to her subordinates were clean and efficient.

Just as Qin Ruri was fantasizing about his beautiful future life, he heard urgent knocking on the door.

"Come in," he said impatiently.

The secretary immediately pushed the door open and told Qin Ruri the latest news he had just received.

Seeing that his shareholding had dropped to thirty percent, Qin Ruri immediately threw the documents to the ground.

"Didn't I tell you to constantly monitor market trends? How could this happen!"

Qin Ruri grabbed the secretary's collar and roared angrily.

Unlike Qin Ruri's focus, Ming Qingyun knew that this matter must have been done by Yan Si.

But now Ming Qingyun wasn't thinking about shares, but rather - if Yan Si was still alive, then what about Yin Lingzhu?

Thinking of a certain possibility from before, Ming Qingyun couldn't sit still.

She immediately rushed madly toward Yan Si's company.

She hoped that all her judgments were wrong.

But the theories she had once studied clearly told her that the possibility of curing gland aftereffects was very low.

And the probability of both people surviving a pheromone transfer was even more minimal.

As Ming Qingyun was lost in wild thoughts, the car stopped downstairs from Yan Si's building.

Ming Qingyun ignored the security guards at the entrance and tried to force her way inside.

The elevator doors in front of Yan Si slowly opened. She glanced at Ming Qingyun being controlled by the security guards.

She raised her chin, signaling the security guards to release Ming Qingyun.

Yan Si looked at Ming Qingyun's disheveled appearance, her eyes completely indifferent.

"What are you doing here?"

Ming Qingyun unwillingly raised her head, her gaze stubbornly looking at Yan Si.

"Where is Lingzhu?"

Yan Si narrowed her eyes. Sunlight shone in, but it didn't reach the bottom of her eyes.

The surroundings were completely silent.

In this silence, she slowly spoke.

"What does that have to do with you?"

She raised her head and pointed toward the door. "See the guest out."

The security guards immediately sprang into action. Ming Qingyun's usually neat suit became stained with dust.

Her eyes were filled with resentment, but she was helpless.

Yan Si walked past her, and seeing Ming Qingyun's wretched state, she stopped.

"Do you love Lingzhu, or do you love yourself?"
