

Chapter 3-1

Liang Shi woke up again in the hospital.

The pungent smell of disinfectant stimulated her brain nerves. The bright, clean glass windows, loose blue and white striped patient gown, and empty hospital room.

This scene made her feel somewhat dazed.

Could it be that everything before was just a dream?

Liang Shi was an actress, not a graduate from a professional academy. Before entering the entertainment industry, she had been a worker who constantly changed jobs, living a very difficult but strong life. She had lost both parents since childhood and was raised by her grandparents, but during her growing up, her grandparents passed away one after another.

When she reached high school, after her last relative died, she lost her source of income and had no choice but to drop out. But because she was young, there were limited things she could do, so she had to work in the kitchen preparing vegetables. Gradually, to earn living expenses, at most she worked five jobs a day. Later, when she heard that being an extra paid well, she went to Hengdian¹.

Because of her good looks, she was spotted by a talent agency in Hengdian and then played a supporting female role, which became somewhat popular, and since then her entertainment career went smoothly.

But unexpectedly, after she and Sun Chengcheng starred together in a GL drama², the other party constantly dragged her down and bound their names together, and threw dirty water on her, causing her reputation in the industry to plummet and making her a target of public criticism.

Sun Chengcheng even falsely accused her of sexual harassment during filming, thus exposing that she was homosexual. For a time, she wasn't accepted by the public, and after more than ten days of cyberbullying, cooperating companies terminated their contracts with her one after another.

Feeling depressed, she ran to a bar to get drunk, and then fell down the steps when leaving.

And then...

So was yesterday really just a dream?

She thought she had really come to another world.

A world that could tolerate her sexual orientation.

She did like girls, and there was nothing wrong with that.

But that world didn't allow her to like girls - actually, they were the ones who were wrong.

Liang Shi pressed her temples³, her brain buzzing with pain.

Soon after, a nurse walked in to check, then hurried out with quick steps, "Dr. Zhao, the patient is awake."

Liang Shi leaned against the bed, but her mind was thinking about Xu Qingzhu.

That Omega following the scumbag Alpha Liang Shi would surely endure inhuman torture. What had she done wrong?

Thinking about this, her heart felt inexplicably blocked.

A moment later, the Dr. Zhao mentioned by the nurse walked into the ward. She wore a white coat with a cold expression, gold-rimmed glasses that perfectly revealed a beauty mark under her right eye, and her hair casually tied in a low ponytail.

She had both hands in her white coat pockets, glancing casually, first adjusting the speed of the IV drip, then looking down at Liang Shi from above, "Does your head hurt?"

For some reason, Liang Shi heard disgust in her voice.

Or rather, she hadn't even tried to hide her emotions.

"It doesn't hurt." Liang Shi answered gently.

Hearing this, Zhao Xuning made a casual mark on the medical record, then looked at her with confusion.

That's not right.

Would the arrogant and domineering Miss Liang speak so gently?

Zhao Xuning withdrew her gaze and asked again: "Does anywhere on your body hurt?"

Liang Shi frowned, and after a while, she raised her hand to touch the area behind her left ear, "Here."

Since she woke up, that area had been somewhat painful, but not to an unbearable degree.

"Oh." Zhao Xuning's expression was indifferent, "Pain is normal."

Liang Shi was puzzled, "Why?"

Logically, she should have injured her head or limbs, so why was only the area behind her ear continuously hurting?

"When an Alpha's glands are cut out, it's natural for the Alpha to feel pain." Zhao Xuning's words carried barbs, speaking lies as if they were truth. But her hands didn't stop, secretly observing Liang Shi's expression and physical condition, making mark after mark in the medical record.

Glands?

Liang Shi was shocked.

Her original world didn't have such things - it was just a normal human world.

But she had read many novels with ABO worldviews, so she understood these things very well. Only in ABO worldviews would humans differentiate into Alpha, Beta, and Omega, with A and O growing glands.

And she was an Alpha?

That meant she was still in the book "Sweet Love."

For some reason, Liang Shi's first reaction wasn't nervousness, but relief.

"What about Xu Qingzhu?" Liang Shi asked anxiously, "Is she hurt?"

Zhao Xuning: "...?"

Perhaps Zhao Xuning's expression was too surprised, causing Liang Shi to suddenly realize that her words were too suspicious.

The original body was a scumbag Alpha, and her poor attitude toward Xu Qingzhu was well known, so asking like this now seemed very contradictory, or like she had ulterior motives toward Xu Qingzhu.

Thinking of this, she immediately shut up.

"She's still unconscious." When mentioning Xu Qingzhu, Zhao Xuning's voice became even colder. She looked at Liang Shi with undisguised disgust, "Omegas are very vulnerable during their heat period. If you forcibly mark an Omega, it's very detrimental to the Omega's future conception and will cause serious trauma to her body. But..."

Zhao Xuning paused and sneered, "How could Miss Liang care about that?"

Liang Shi pressed her lips together.

She had no way to explain to people that she wasn't the original Liang Shi now, and no way to prove that she hadn't done those things before.

In others' eyes, she was the one who had abused Xu Qingzhu and wanted to forcibly mark an Omega in heat.

"I'm sorry." Liang Shi apologized gently, "When Xu Qingzhu wakes up, I'll explain to her personally."

"Whatever." Zhao Xuning leaned over and examined her glands from a distance. The area was red, scratched by the frenzied Alpha during her susceptible period last night, so pain was inevitable.

"We'll observe for one more day. If there's nothing wrong, you can be discharged." Zhao Xuning said.

Liang Shi nodded, "Oh."

Oh?

Zhao Xuning frowned in confusion. Today's Liang Shi's attitude was really too strange, actually being so... gentle.

This gentleness didn't seem fake, but more like politeness, humility, and tenderness that was ingrained in her bones.

This wasn't her first day knowing Liang Shi.

"Liang Shi." Zhao Xuning put away her pen and suddenly asked: "Do you remember who I am?"

Liang Shi looked up at her, those eyes very clear, carrying polite inquiry, "I'm sorry." She touched the back of her head, "I can't quite remember."

"Memory loss?" Zhao Xuning reached out to feel her forehead, "Can a susceptible period cause memory loss in Alphas?"

But looking at Liang Shi's expression, it didn't seem fake. She turned back to instruct the nurse, "Arrange for her to have a brain CT scan."

"Thank you." Liang Shi said.

Zhao Xuning: "..."

If Zhao Xuning hadn't been steady since childhood, her jaw might have dropped upon hearing this.

She had known Liang Shi since she was ten years old and knew exactly what kind of person she was. Words like "thank you" would absolutely never come out of Miss Liang's mouth.

But...

Zhao Xuning had actually heard her sincere thanks.

This was truly once in a lifetime.

But Liang Shi didn't feel anything was wrong.

Although the other party's attitude wasn't good, she could tell they were old acquaintances, and the other party's misunderstanding of her had reasons. But she couldn't continue living in the original body's lifestyle - that would be too uncomfortable.

She definitely still wanted to be herself.

Taking this opportunity to pretend to have memory loss wasn't a bad method either.

Chapter 3-2

"I'd like to ask." Liang Shi spoke gently, inquiring politely: "Which ward is Xu Qingzhu in?"

"Why do you care which ward she's in." Zhao Xuning instinctively retorted, but after retorting, she realized her attitude wasn't very good, so she pressed her lips together and left the ward after a moment.

However, after she left the ward, the little nurse behind her answered in a low voice: "Miss Xu is on the tenth floor, room 1002."

Liang Shi smiled gently, "Thank you."

The little nurse was a Beta. Seeing the beautiful Miss Liang smile at her, she was immediately overjoyed, her heart racing like a little deer, and she said shyly with a red face: "You're welcome."

After saying that, she ran away like a wisp of smoke.

Liang Shi put away her smile.

She looked out the window. The skyscrapers of this city stood row upon row, the sky was very blue, and the scenery was beautiful. An airplane roared past in the sky, leaving a trail of gray smoke.

After a moment, Liang Shi made her decision - she would live well in this world.

She integrated the fragments in her mind and found that she knew very little. Everything needed to be explored by herself.

When she looked up Xu Qingzhu online, the first result that appeared was their wedding news.

Their wedding had been kept very low-key at the time. Because of the Xu family enterprise crisis, Liang Shi was only trying to get her and didn't attach much importance to it.

Even so, many media outlets still broke the news about this matter.

Because Xu Qingzhu held the title of "Haichuan's Number One Omega."

The reason was simply one thing - she was beautiful.

Very few people could perfectly balance the temperament of coolness and beauty, but Xu Qingzhu could.

In fact, she was outstanding among them.

Her eyes were cold, but her appearance was beautiful and enchanting.

When she was in college, someone took her photo and posted it online, quickly attracting the admiration of many Alphas.

Later, Father Xu felt it wasn't good and spent a lot of money to remove her photos from the internet, but Xu Qingzhu's appearance was the type that once seen, could never be forgotten.

Xu Qingzhu had extremely high popularity online, but she didn't become a celebrity.

In the year she graduated from college, due to the family enterprise crisis, she chose to marry Liang Shi through an arranged marriage to save the company, and since then had been a full-time housewife at home.

After looking this up, Liang Shi was still worried about Xu Qingzhu, so she got out of bed, put on slippers, and went to the tenth floor.

This body seemed to have memories of the hospital, and she found the ward quite smoothly.

Standing at the door of room 1002, she hesitated, not knowing how to face Xu Qingzhu.

Should she say: Actually, I'm not that Liang Shi?

Then she would either be sent to a psychiatric evaluation center or sent to a national secret institution for dissection.

While she was thinking, suddenly a voice came from behind her, "What are you here for? You're not welcome here."

Liang Shi turned around and saw Xu Qingzhu's good friend Bai Weiwei. She wore a white suit, and Zhao Xuning was following behind her.

"Haven't you hurt Zhuzhu enough? What else do you want to do?" Bai Weiwei righteously condemned her, "We all believed you would treat Zhuzhu well when we let her marry you, but look what you've done!"

Liang Shi lowered her head, looking like she would let her scold her.

Bai Weiwei rolled her eyes, "Miss Liang, there's no need to pretend to be pitiful. You do this every time after bullying Zhuzhu. Do you think this will make Zhuzhu change her mind? Let me tell you, it's impossible. When Zhuzhu wakes up this time, you two must get divorced."

Liang Shi pressed her lips together, "I'm sorry."

"Heh." Bai Weiwei sneered, but Zhao Xuning walked forward and entered the ward.

Inside the ward, Xu Qingzhu was sitting on the bed with her eyes open, as quiet as a fragile doll.

Bai Weiwei immediately saw Xu Qingzhu and ran into the ward, "Zhuzhu, how are you? Are you okay?"

Xu Qingzhu showed a weak smile and shook her head at her, comforting: "I'm fine."

Her voice was hoarse, and her eyes were transparent and clear, but carried a coldness that was hard to approach. After comforting Bai Weiwei, she looked up toward the door, meeting Liang Shi's gaze directly.

Liang Shi's face immediately became hot.

No one could escape those eyes.

Liang Shi's heartbeat suddenly quickened, and she heard Xu Qingzhu say in a calm voice: "Weiwei, please go out with Xuning first."

Bai Weiwei frowned, "Why? Are you really going to forgive her?"

Xu Qingzhu just smiled, and even that smile carried a bit of ice, "I want to have a word with her."

Zhao Xuning always fully respected Xu Qingzhu's decisions. She half-forcibly pulled Bai Weiwei out of the ward, leaving only Liang Shi and Xu Qingzhu in the ward. For a moment, it was terrifyingly quiet.

Xu Qingzhu turned her face to look out the window, staring blankly for a long time.

After a while, she turned around and looked at Liang Shi.

Her face was pale, her lips had no trace of blood color, and the gaze she directed at Liang Shi was about to turn into ice picks, just short of stabbing straight at Liang Shi. Liang Shi felt guilty and uneasy. After hesitating, she spoke first, "Are... are you okay?"

Xu Qingzhu gently pressed her lips together, her pale lips curving into a cool arc.

After a moment, she gripped the corner of the blanket and said coldly: "Liang Shi."

"Mm?" Liang Shi responded, "I'm here."

"Let's get divorced." Xu Qingzhu said very peacefully: "I'm serious."

Like a hand suddenly gripping Liang Shi's heart tightly.

The pain made it hard for her to breathe.
