

Chapter 41 - Conflict

Feng Yue had no right to interfere with where Yan Lin moved, and all she could do was turn a blind eye to everything.

Therefore, at this moment, Feng Yue hoped immensely that the elevator would travel from the 10th floor to the 14th floor faster—much faster.

But Yan Lin, who had been silently leaning in the corner, didn't give Feng Yue this opportunity. The moment the little girl got off on the 10th floor and the elevator doors closed, Yan Lin reached out and grabbed the hem of Feng Yue's clothing.

Feeling someone approach her from behind with the smell of alcohol, Feng Yue wanted to step aside, but Yan Lin's movements were much faster than hers.

The desire that Yan Lin had buried deep in her heart was now occupying her entire mind under the influence of alcohol.

Especially when she saw Feng Yue unexpectedly appear in front of her, she could hardly restrain herself from reaching out to touch her.

Feng Yue felt a pulling force at the hem of her clothing. Without courtesy, she directly swung her hand to knock away Yan Lin's hand. "President Yan, please conduct yourself with dignity."

The cold and distant words were like a knife cutting into Yan Lin's fingertips, immediately causing her fingers to feel numb with pain.

"Ah Yue..." Yan Lin reached out again, this time directly grabbing the wrist of Feng Yue's hand that was holding the shopping bag.

Feng Yue was extremely annoyed. This time, holding the shopping bag, she couldn't easily shake off the other person, so she had to turn around to face Yan Lin, her eyes showing undisguised irritation.

"President Yan, we settled everything between us long ago. You haven't forgotten that, have you? So if you don't let go, I'll have to call the police."

Not knowing which word in Feng Yue's statement stimulated Yan Lin, Yan Lin's grip on Feng Yue's wrist gradually tightened, pinching Feng Yue's wrist painfully.

"Let go! Yan Lin! You're hurting me!"

It seemed that hearing Feng Yue finally call her name instead of distantly calling her "President Yan" again made Yan Lin feel slightly pleased. Additionally, she realized that Feng Yue was truly being hurt, so the force in her hands lessened considerably.

Feng Yue also took advantage of this moment when she relaxed her grip, twisted her wrist to break free from Yan Lin's restraint, and then quickly moved aside to create some distance.

But a drunk person's behavior is completely unpredictable. Seeing Feng Yue break free from her again, Yan Lin this time directly reached out and pulled her into her arms, hugging Feng Yue tightly.

She was also murmuring Feng Yue's name, "Ah Yue... Ah Yue, don't die, don't leave me... I never want to return to that empty house again..."

After getting drunk, Yan Lin seemed to have mixed up memories from her previous life with this life. She only knew that when she saw Feng Yue mercilessly shake off her hand, a tremendous fear arose in her heart.

It was as if, if she didn't hold onto her tightly right now, she would disappear from her world forever.

Yan Lin had already completely lost Feng Yue once; she didn't want to face a world without Feng Yue's existence alone again.

Yan Lin's memory was somewhat confused, but Feng Yue at this moment had no time to care about what she was saying.

Yan Lin's embrace was incredibly familiar to her. If you counted both her previous and current lives together, she and Yan Lin had spent about twenty years together.

And the habits cultivated through those twenty years of days and nights made her body react most honestly when being embraced.

The moment she was enveloped by Yan Lin's scent, what she felt wasn't disgust, but peace of mind.

However, this feeling only lasted for an instant. The next second, what filled her mind was an inexplicable anger.

And coincidentally, at this time the elevator opened its doors on the 13th floor.

Yan Lin turned a blind eye to everything, only holding Feng Yue tightly, ignoring her resistance, and even whispering nonsensical words in Feng Yue's ear.

After noticing that Yan Lin had no intention of getting off the elevator, Feng Yue instinctively felt something was wrong.

"Let me go!" This time Feng Yue directly threw the shopping bag in her hand to the ground, using both hands to continuously push against Yan Lin's body.

The familiar scent from Feng Yue's body made Yan Lin greedily hold Feng Yue even tighter¹.

Feng Yue watched the elevator doors close and continue upward, and was so angry her teeth itched.

"Yan Lin, what kind of madness is this! If you're drunk, go back to your own home and go crazy there, don't go crazy here with me!"

"I won't go, I won't go! There's no you at home, Ah Yue, Ah Yue... don't leave me, I never want to see you smiling in photos again... please, please..."

Feng Yue had no idea what she was rambling about, so she simply treated it as drunk nonsense.

From the 13th floor to the 14th floor was only one floor apart, and no matter how slowly the elevator ran, it should have arrived by now.

After the elevator doors opened to reveal the elevator lobby of Feng Yue's floor, she knew she had to get off the elevator, otherwise she would be trapped in the elevator with this drunk Yan Lin.

But despite using all her strength, she couldn't break free from Yan Lin, so she knew that relying on brute force probably wouldn't work.

Therefore, she took a deep breath, suppressed the anger in her heart, and pretended to speak calmly: "Yan Lin, let's talk properly. Let me go first."

Sure enough, the drunk Yan Lin responded to gentleness rather than force. After hearing Feng Yue's words, she gradually loosened her arms that were holding her.

Feng Yue stepped back, creating some distance between them. She breathed with difficulty a couple of times, then picked up her shopping bag from the ground and walked out of the elevator.

Feng Yue's saying she wanted to talk properly with Yan Lin was naturally just to deceive her—there was nothing left for her and Yan Lin to discuss.

Feng Yue stood in front of her own door holding the shopping bag, raised her head to look at Yan Lin who was half a head taller than her, her expression serious and earnest: "There's no possibility between us anymore, so stop pestering me endlessly. Let's leave each other with some dignity."

After saying this, she was about to turn around and open the door, but Yan Lin couldn't listen to these things. She only knew that everything Feng Yue said was what she didn't want to hear, and now she just wanted to hold her and rest properly.

The best way to do that would be to block this person's mouth.

Yan Lin gripped Feng Yue's shoulders with both hands and forcibly turned her around, then pressed her against the door and leaned down slightly to kiss those pink lips.

Yan Lin's sudden kiss startled Feng Yue so much that she almost lost half a second of thinking time. The bag in her hand was thrown to the ground again.

Feng Yue continuously beat Yan Lin's shoulders and back with both hands, trying to make her let go.

Now there was only one thought in her mind: she definitely had to make Yan Lin pay for this!

But after getting drunk, Yan Lin's strength was enormous. Her hands that had originally gripped Feng Yue's shoulders had now slipped—one arm went around Feng Yue's waist, while the other moved up and firmly gripped the back of Feng Yue's head.

She and Feng Yue had known each other for too long, long enough that they were incredibly familiar with each other's bodies. Her tongue easily pried open Feng Yue's teeth and conquered the territory inside.

But just as she understood Feng Yue, Feng Yue understood her equally well.

Feng Yue knew that with her own strength she definitely couldn't break free from Yan Lin right now, so she decided to be ruthless and bite down hard.

Yan Lin probably sensed her intention, so Feng Yue only managed to bite through Yan Lin's lip.

The taste of blood spread in both their mouths, and Yan Lin finally let go of Feng Yue due to the pain.

Feng Yue was furious. Just as Yan Lin stepped back barely one step, the next second she slapped Yan Lin across the face.

"Smack—"

A crisp sound rang out in the quiet elevator lobby. Yan Lin seemed to be stunned by this slap. Her long hair draped over her shoulders was somewhat disheveled, the redness on her cheeks could have been from drinking or from Feng Yue's slap, and there was still a bit of blood at the corner of her mouth.

She looked utterly disheveled.

Yan Lin stood there, the feeling of walking on clouds that she had before was slapped down to the ground by Feng Yue.

Even her alcohol-invaded brain became much clearer.

But looking at Feng Yue, her situation wasn't very good either.

She only felt her temples throbbing. Although her head didn't hurt, she felt dizzy, and could only lean against the door to support herself from falling to the ground.

"Get lost, get away!" Feng Yue gripped the door handle with one hand to support her body, pointing at Yan Lin with the other hand, shouting viciously.

Yan Lin seemed to be awakened by that slap. She looked up at Feng Yue, and even though her brain was numb, she could tell that something was wrong with Feng Yue's physical condition.

Connecting this to what she had just done to Feng Yue, Yan Lin's face turned pale, and a huge panic and guilt struck her heart.

"Ah Yue..." Yan Lin stepped forward, seeming to want to check on Feng Yue's condition. "Are you... are you alright?"

"Get away!" Seeing her take another step toward her, Feng Yue's heart tightened, and her fingers gripping the door handle exerted even more force.

Feng Yue opened her mouth, wanting to say something harsh, but the next second she felt everything go black before her eyes.

Feng Yue's body went limp, and just as she was about to fall to the ground, Yan Lin rushed forward and caught her in her arms.

"Ah Yue! Ah Yue!" Yan Lin's face lost all color, and even her fingertips holding Feng Yue were trembling.

Yan Lin took a deep breath, forcing herself to calm down, then quickly took out her phone and dialed Mo Yixu's number.

"Have Wei Yuran stand by, I need to take Ah Yue to the hospital! Also have the resident manager at Songhe Bay wait for me in the underground parking garage—I've been drinking and can't drive." After saying this, without waiting for Mo Yixu to ask for details, she quickly hung up the phone.

Then Yan Lin carried Feng Yue horizontally and headed straight for the community's underground parking garage.

Mo Yixu handled things very quickly. Almost the second after Yan Lin hung up, he called the Songhe Bay resident manager and had them immediately go to the parking garage to stand by.

So when Yan Lin took the elevator directly to the underground parking garage, the resident manager was already waiting at the elevator entrance.

Yan Lin threw the car keys to him, and then the three of them quickly got in the car and headed straight to the hospital.

Only in the car did Yan Lin start contacting Feng Yue's parents, informing the elderly couple that Feng Yue had been sent to the hospital.

Wei Yuran had been on standby at the hospital the moment he received the call, so seeing Yan Lin carrying the unconscious Feng Yue out of the car, he quickly had people push a hospital bed to meet them.

Feng Yue was taken away by the doctor, and only then did Yan Lin seem to breathe a sigh of relief as she stood in place.

Yan Lin stood outside the emergency room waiting. Not long after, she saw Feng Yue's parents appear in the hospital corridor.

Coming with them were also her own parents, followed by Mo Yixu who looked pale.

Yan Lin paused for a moment before remembering that Mo Yixu was at her house tonight reporting to her father. Her parents should have also known about the phone call she made.

Father Feng and Mother Feng rushed over looking anxious. Just as they were about to ask Yan Lin about Feng Yue's condition, Wei Yuran came out of the emergency room.

"Doctor, is my daughter alright?" Mother Feng's eyes were somewhat red, and she was wearing ordinary home clothes with a coat thrown over them. You could tell she had left in a hurry.

Wei Yuran roughly explained Feng Yue's condition: "Miss Feng is fine, it's just that her anger attacked her heart² and she couldn't catch her breath, which caused her to faint. We'll do a detailed examination for her later. If there are no major issues, she'll be fine after sleeping through the night. However, she definitely can't go home tonight."

The four parents had been anxious, but hearing Wei Yuran's words, they finally felt relieved.

Father Feng and Mother Feng had no time to exchange pleasantries with the Yan family. When Wei Yuran indicated they could go in to see her, they went directly into the hospital room.

Wei Yuran also left the corridor, taking Mo Yixu with him to handle the subsequent examination matters and Feng Yue's hospital admission procedures.

For a moment, only Yan Lin's family of three remained in the large corridor.

Yan Lin was just about to say something when, before she could speak, she was slapped by Mother Yan, her head jerking to the side.

After learning that Feng Yue had been hospitalized, Mother Yan had a bad premonition. When she arrived at the hospital and saw her daughter's broken lip and the smell of alcohol on her, she guessed about eighty to ninety percent of what had happened that night.

"You scoundrel!"

Footnotes:

¹ 食髓知味 (shí suǐ zhī wèi) - An idiom meaning "having tasted the marrow, one knows the flavor" - refers to becoming addicted to or craving something after experiencing pleasure from it.

² 怒急攻心 (nù jí gōng xīn) - A traditional Chinese medical term describing a condition where extreme anger or emotional stress affects the heart, causing physical symptoms like fainting or chest pain.