

Chapter 63 - Preparation

On New Year's Day, Feng Yue still found time to call Qian He to wish her well.

Hearing the vibrant voice coming through the phone, Feng Yue knew that Qian He hadn't taken last night's incident to heart.

With this, Feng Yue finally let go of the heavy stone in her heart.

No matter what, Qian He had been mistakenly identified and kidnapped by those kidnappers because of her, so it was natural for Feng Yue to feel somewhat guilty toward Qian He.

Feng Yue hadn't told her parents about this incident, mainly because she was afraid the two elders would worry. But she never expected that Father Feng would still find out about it.

Feng Yue had originally been preparing things needed for tomorrow's Cat Station¹ carnival booth with Mother Feng, but after Father Feng received a phone call, he came downstairs and called Feng Yue to the study.

Seeing her father's serious expression, Feng Yue was puzzled. "Dad, what's wrong?"

"Nuan'er², did something happen to you last night?"

Feng Yue was stunned. She thought for a long while but still didn't know where her father had gotten the information from. Although she didn't want her family to worry, Feng Yue wasn't planning to hide it either. So she nodded. "Something did happen, but it's all been resolved."

"Is it related to Wang Huili and her family?"

Feng Yue was even more surprised. She nodded. "It is indeed related to her, but how did you know?"

"Look at this first." Father Feng handed Feng Yue the tablet on his desk, which displayed an economic news article.

【Wang Group's capital chain breaks, welcoming the official New Year's first investigation!】

Feng Yue quickly read through the news article, which only briefly described how Wang Group had suddenly been investigated this morning due to a broken capital chain, saying nothing more about anything else.

Although Feng Yue studied finance, she didn't understand much about these business matters. She didn't understand what her father meant. "Dad, what's wrong with this news?"

"Although Wang Group has been gradually declining in recent years, something like a broken capital chain definitely wouldn't happen. The cash flow of this type of group company is extremely large and cannot be easily severed."

"So you're saying someone is targeting Wang Group?" Feng Yue still didn't understand what this had to do with what happened to her yesterday.

Father Feng nodded. "There are very few people in all of Yanjing³ who have such means, and you happen to know one of them."

Feng Yue blinked, having a guess in her heart. "You mean this is Yan Lin's handiwork?"

Father Feng nodded. "This matter indeed has traces of Yan Lin's involvement, and she didn't even try to hide it. However, another family has also gotten involved in this matter."

"The Qian family." Feng Yue now understood.

"Wang Fushan just called me, asking me to help him plead with the Yan family for mercy, and also to seek your forgiveness." Father Feng naturally refused this call on the spot. Although his daughter's divorce from Yan Lin hadn't been widely publicized, those in the circle who should know already knew. Asking him to come forward and plead was simply absurd.

But what Father Feng cared about was the last thing Wang Fushan said: He must seek Feng Yue's forgiveness.

Hearing this, Father Feng could almost be certain that the Wang family's eldest daughter had definitely done something wrong to his child, which was why he called Feng Yue to the study to inquire.

"So, Nuan'er, what exactly did that Wang Huili do to you last night?" Father Feng's expression was serious, those hawk-like eyes staring straight at Feng Yue, making it impossible for her to tell even half a lie.

Feng Yue had no choice but to tell her father everything that had happened last night.

As expected, when Father Feng heard that Wang Huili had attempted to hire someone to kidnap Feng Yue, he flew into a rage, slapping the table so hard it made loud banging sounds.

"Dad, Dad, Dad! Be gentle!" Feng Yue quickly stopped her father's hand. "Let's not tell Mom about this. If she knows, she'll inevitably worry about me."

Father Feng calmed his emotions before nodding. "Indeed, it's better not to tell your mother about this. If she knew, she'd worry for a long time."

The father and daughter reached this consensus. Father Feng was still resentful toward the Wang family, so he didn't keep Feng Yue in the study for long. After letting her leave, he quickly made phone calls to stir up trouble.

Since the Wang family couldn't properly discipline their daughter, then he would help them teach her a good lesson!

After leaving the study, Feng Yue finally had the energy to think about Wang Group's situation.

According to her father, Yan Lin played a decisive role in Wang Group's matter. Moreover, Yan Lin's intention to swallow up Wang Group was not hidden at all, as if she was announcing to the whole world that she, Yan Lin, was targeting the Wang family and wanted to leave them without any chance of recovery.

But if only the Yan family was involved in this matter, it could only be classified as business competition. However, this time the Qian family had also made a move, and they had even taken a share from the Yan family, which was very shocking to the outside world.

The reason the Yan family could stand firm in Yanjing was inseparable from the thunderous methods of the Yan family members. In past business competitions, the Yan family would choose to monopolize if they could. This kind of cooperative nature had never appeared before.

Feng Yue knew the Qian family must be doing this for Qian He, but who was the Yan family doing this for?

Was it her?

Feng Yue frowned and didn't want to think further. Her heart preferred to view this matter as an ordinary business competition.

She and Yan Lin had long had nothing to do with each other. Everything the other party did was based on her own thoughts, and none of it had anything to do with her.

She stopped thinking deeply and put all these thoughts behind her, instead focusing wholeheartedly on preparing for the upcoming carnival.

Cat Station Video, as one of the top internet companies online, had prepared extensively for this carnival, choosing the venue at Yanjing's largest convention center.

The booth Feng Yue was assigned was also just a small area. The venue provided chairs and tables needed for selling things, while everything else needed to be prepared by the booth owners themselves.

Fortunately, Feng Yue didn't need many things. What she was bringing to the venue the next day, besides a pre-made pull-up banner sign, was all snacks for sale.

This time she made quite a few small cookies that were easy to carry and tasted excellent, and even made several large plates of tiramisu and strawberry cake, plus some small gifts to give away to everyone.

Feng Yue definitely couldn't handle so many things by herself, so when Qian He learned about this, she proactively contacted Feng Yue, saying she could help.

Thus, Feng Yue gave one of her three entrance tickets to Qian He. As for the remaining two, Feng Yue planned to keep them for Wen Zhen and Zhou Qiongqiong.

Wen Zhen had also called Feng Yue on New Year's Day to send greetings, and said she would return to the country before the exhibition started, asking Feng Yue to definitely save her a ticket.

As for Zhou Qiongqiong, who was deeply immersed in love, she also said she would meet up with Feng Yue at the convention center on the morning of the carnival.

With this, Feng Yue's three tickets were all gone, and even Mother Feng couldn't go join in on the young people's fun.

The next day, Feng Yue got up early. She had arranged to meet Qian He and Zhou Qiongqiong at eight o'clock at the entrance of the convention center, since the flea market would start normal operations at nine-thirty, and they still needed to prepare some things.

Today Feng Yue wore a camel-colored wool coat with a high-necked thick sweater inside, making her look warm and cozy.

She drove her car loaded with food and arrived punctually at the entrance of the convention center. When she arrived, there were already many people at the convention center, though most were today's staff and booth bloggers like herself.

When Feng Yue saw Qian He, she was talking with someone. Only when Feng Yue got closer did she discover that standing next to her was Xu Yan.

"Little Yue! Good morning!" Ever since that night's kidnapping incident, Qian He had changed how she addressed Feng Yue, calling Feng Yue's nickname with particular affection, without any awareness that Feng Yue was several years older than her.

"Good morning to you both too. Is Miss Xu also going to be with us today?" Feng Yue asked. If the other party was joining them, she had no more tickets here, though she could ask the staff if they had any left.

Xu Yan shook her head and pulled out the participant badge hanging around her neck. "I'm also a booth owner, but I don't have any extra tickets."

"Yanyan is a gaming streamer. She also applied for a booth this time, planning to provide live companionship⁴ at the venue!" Qian He curved her eyebrows, the dimples on both sides of her lips particularly striking.

Hearing this, Xu Yan couldn't help but tap Qian He's head. "What companionship? I've told you several times, it's proper live gaming assistance."

Even after being tapped, Qian He wasn't annoyed. She just mischievously stuck her tongue out at Xu Yan.

Watching the two interact like children, Feng Yue couldn't help but laugh. To prevent the two from getting more carried away, she had to interrupt their banter. "Alright, alright, let's go in first. We need to put our things in place first."

"Okay." Qian He nodded with a smile. "But Little Yue, you still have two other friends, right?"

Hearing this, Feng Yue also looked around but didn't see Zhou Qiongqiong. She checked the time - there was still a while before eight o'clock. She thought the other party should still be on the way. "One should still be on the way. Her home is quite far from the convention center. I'll call her later. As for the other one..."

Feng Yue looked at her phone. Her chat history with Wen Zhen ended with her asking about the other party's schedule.

"The other one should also be on the way. I'll contact them later."

"Okay, let's go in first then."

With that, Qian He went with Feng Yue to help move things from the car. As for Xu Yan, she also had a sign to take, so she couldn't help Feng Yue for this trip.

However, what surprised the three of them was that Xu Yan's assigned booth wasn't far from Feng Yue's booth. Xu Yan was diagonally across from Feng Yue, about twenty meters away.

It wasn't until the three had moved half of their things that Zhou Qiongqiong arrived late, panting heavily.

"Little Yue, I'm sorry, I'm late."

Feng Yue didn't blame her, but quickly handed her a cup of hot coffee that she had just ordered nearby.

"Don't rush, drink some water first." As she spoke, Feng Yue also patted her back to help her catch her breath.

Only then did Zhou Qiongqiong take the coffee and gulp it down.

Zhou Qiongqiong was a particularly outgoing person, so when she and Qian He got together, it was like sparks hitting the earth - unstoppable.

Both were very talkative, and once they started chatting, they couldn't stop. Xu Yan, who was quiet, couldn't get a word in edgewise.

So at Feng Yue's booth, everyone could see two beautiful women chattering and giggling away. What exactly they were talking about, no one could tell, mainly because the two changed topics too quickly.

However, their chatting didn't delay work. The four of them had everything ready by around nine o'clock, just waiting for the flea market to start operating at nine-thirty.

Having some free time here, Qian He went with Xu Yan to visit her booth. Only then did Zhou Qiongqiong remember about her senior sister.

"Little Yue, when will senior sister arrive?" She took a sip of coffee and asked casually.

Hearing this, Feng Yue shook her head. "When I talked to her on the phone before, she said she would arrive before the exhibition started, but she hasn't replied to the message I sent her last night."

"That's fine. She probably just didn't see the message. Since she said she would come before the exhibition started, she definitely won't break her word."

Feng Yue nodded in agreement. She had known Wen Zhen for quite some time now, and the other party had indeed never broken her word.

Sister Wen Zhen would come.

Footnotes:

1. Cat Station (猫站): Likely a fictional video platform similar to Bilibili or YouTube, where content creators post videos.
2. Nuan'er (囡囡): A term of endearment used by parents for their daughters, meaning "little girl" or "baby girl."
3. Yanjing (燕京): An ancient name for Beijing, often used in modern Chinese literature to refer to Beijing.
4. Live companionship/gaming assistance (陪玩): A service where gamers, often streamers, play games with or alongside clients, providing entertainment and guidance. In gaming culture, this can range from purely professional gaming assistance to more social interaction.