

Chapter 98 - Starry Sky

That night's conversation was never mentioned again by anyone, but Yan Lin's condition returned to normal. She was no longer like a quiet robot beside Feng Yue, but instead began to actively integrate into Feng Yue's family.

Jiang Yu took note of this small transformation between the two, and suddenly remembered the ugly smile that Feng Yue had shown her that day. Some things were beginning to become clear in her heart.

The four of them didn't stay in Japan for too long, but Japan had aroused Jiang Yu's shopping desire, so they moved up their schedule to go to Dubai.

After arriving in Dubai, Jiang Yu began to completely let herself go. Every day she would spend a whole morning soaking in shopping malls, while the other three would risk their lives to accompany her¹.

However, after arriving in Dubai, there was also something that made everyone happy - Feng Yue could finally get down and walk, although she couldn't walk too quickly, at least she didn't have to choose a wheelchair for convenience every time she went out.

After Feng Yue could get down and walk, the happiest person was naturally herself, as she could finally escape the suffering of being carried to the bathroom by Yan Lin every morning and evening.

But what Feng Yue didn't expect was that Yan Lin acted as if she couldn't see her recovery at all, still taking care of Feng Yue as if she were a patient with inconvenient hands and feet. Feng Yue had no strength to refuse at all.

After all, every time she refused, Yan Lin's face would show an expression like she had been abandoned, staring straight at Feng Yue like a big dog.

What made Feng Yue most helpless was that Yan Lin would also say very righteously that she was worried about her falling and getting injured again.

In the end, Yan Lin naturally got her wish, taking over Feng Yue's entire trip's morning and evening washing time.

The four of them didn't stay in Dubai for long before leaving early, mainly because they were truly shocked by Jiang Yu's shopping ability.

Jiang Yu not only bought gifts for her card-playing friends, but even didn't forget the cats and dogs in her card friends' homes.

To curb her shopping spree, Feng He Hai quickly made the decision to advance their departure to the next destination.

For their fourth stop, they came to Singapore. This wasn't Feng Yue's decision, but Feng He Hai and Jiang Yu suddenly remembered a certain friend in Singapore, so they decided to go see them.

Upon arriving in Singapore, Jiang Yu and Feng He Hai separated from Feng Yue and Yan Lin. The two elders gave the two kids a little vacation, letting them go play by themselves and not disturb their meeting with friends.

The two had no choice but to idle around in the hotel.

Although the previous trips had been quite fun, being abroad naturally couldn't compare to resting well at home.

So after arriving in Singapore, the two rested in the hotel for two consecutive days, and only on the third day did they fully recover.

There were many Chinese immigrants in Singapore, so the two felt quite comfortable staying there.

After finishing lunch at the hotel restaurant, Feng Yue propped her chin up and watched the flow of people coming and going outside the hotel.

Yan Lin probably guessed that she was feeling a bit bored, thought for a moment, took out her phone and sent a message.

Then she looked toward Feng Yue and asked, "Ah Yue, do you want to go out for a walk today?"

Feng Yue turned around, thought for a moment and nodded, "Sure, but where to? This is my first time in Singapore."

Yan Lin smiled, "Leave the arrangements to me. Should we go upstairs and change clothes first?"

Feng Yue blinked and nodded slightly. If she remembered correctly, Yan Lin had come to Singapore on business trips before.

The two went upstairs and changed clothes. Feng Yue wore a light blue sleeveless floral dress with a sun-protective beige cardigan over it. The long sleeves just covered the string of golden nanmu² prayer beads she always wore on her wrist.

Yan Lin also changed out of her casual outfit. She wore a black silk shirt on top, with the long sleeves casually rolled up to her forearms, and beige wide-leg pants on the bottom. Her usually loose hair was also pinned back with clips, making her whole person look casual yet comfortable.

Both women had exceptionally beautiful appearances, so walking together they naturally became a beautiful sight.

Yan Lin temporarily rented a car from the hotel for transportation, so the two hadn't yet felt the scorching outdoor temperature before getting into the car.

Yan Lin had actually only been to Singapore twice, and each time someone had arranged everything for her, so she wasn't very familiar with Singapore's road conditions either.

Fortunately, the place they were going wasn't very far from the hotel, about twenty minutes by car.

So Feng Yue hadn't even finished admiring the scenery along the way through the car window when they arrived in front of an office building.

The two got out of the car and stood at the entrance. Feng Yue looked through the glass doors of the lobby and saw the name of this place.

"Wang Ke Technology"

A... technology company?

Feng Yue turned around in confusion, and Yan Lin just smiled at her, "Let's go in first."

As soon as the two entered, a young man in a suit looked at Yan Lin with bright eyes, his face full of joy as he came forward to greet them.

"President Yan! Long time no see!"

"Mars, long time no see."

The two shook hands, then the man named Mars looked at Feng Yue beside Yan Lin, "Miss Feng, hello, welcome to the company for inspection with President Yan."

"Alright, Mars, take us over."

"Yes, yes! Please follow me, both of you!"

He walked ahead to lead the way. Only then did Yan Lin have a chance to explain to Feng Yue. She leaned slightly toward Feng Yue's ear and whispered, "Wang Ke is a company founded by Mars and two other partners. Later, those two partners embezzled money and ran away, and Wang Ke was saved only after getting investment from Yan Corporation. Both times I came to Singapore were for Wang Ke."

Feng Yue nodded, looking at Mars with a bit of sympathy.

Seeing this, Yan Lin's lips curved upward, "No need to sympathize with him. Those two partners were later sent to prison by him personally, with sentences of probably several more decades."

Feng Yue clicked her tongue. The business world was indeed like a battlefield, and this saying didn't deceive her.

The three took the elevator all the way to the 15th floor. As soon as the elevator doors opened, Feng Yue saw some instruments placed here, each one radiating a "high-tech" aura.

Mars exchanged a few pleasantries with Yan Lin and then left, leaving only the two of them on the entire 15th floor.

"Why did he leave?" Feng Yue was puzzled.

Yan Lin didn't answer her question, but said, "Come on, let me show you around here."

Feng Yue looked around and listened to Yan Lin's introduction before realizing this should be the company's exhibition area, displaying some high-tech products independently developed by the company.

Feng Yue didn't understand these things very well, so after looking around she became somewhat disinterested. Knowing she had seen enough, Yan Lin took her wrist and led her further inside.

Under Feng Yue's gaze, Yan Lin opened a door at the end. Feng Yue looked inside - it was somewhat spacious, with only some bean bags placed on the floor.

Yan Lin pulled Feng Yue to lie down on the bean bags. Soon after they lay down, the entire space darkened, and then Feng Yue saw tiny stars beginning to appear all around the room.

Then, starting from the Big Bang, comets, meteors, solar prominences³, and spaceships appeared one by one before their eyes.

The huge dome projection enveloped them both. Their vision was infinitely extended, as if they were truly placed in the vast, boundless universe, naturally inspiring infinite emotion and distant thoughts in their hearts.

After the astronomical show ended, Feng Yue still couldn't come back to her senses for a long time. The projection on the dome had become a peaceful starry sky, but Feng Yue was still staring at it in a daze.

"This small planetarium mostly uses the company's newly developed technology. How do you feel?" Yan Lin asked in a low, soft voice, as if afraid of startling Feng Yue.

"Hmm... very shocking." Feng Yue blinked, "It seems like besides 'shocking,' I can't think of any other words."

Yan Lin smiled and nodded, "As long as you're satisfied."

"In the universe, we really are just a drop in the ocean, insignificantly small." Feng Yue's voice was light.

"Yes."

After saying this, both fell quiet, not knowing what they were thinking about.

For the rest of the time, Feng Yue watched this astronomical show several more times, each time quietly, without saying a word. And Yan Lin, who had arranged all this, was learning for the first time that Feng Yue was so interested in astronomical things.

But since this was something Feng Yue liked, Yan Lin had no reason not to accompany her.

This astronomical show left such a deep impression on Feng Yue that afterward she couldn't summon interest in anything else.

This made Yan Lin somewhat worried.

Fortunately, they didn't stay in Singapore for too long. A few days later, the family once again embarked on their journey.

The next stop was Bali, which was also their last stop. Because Bali was very suitable for vacation, this was also the location where they stayed the longest.

This time, Feng Yue had booked accommodation that wasn't a conventional hotel, but a houseboat⁴ moored at the coast.

This was a relatively large abandoned ship that had been converted. Although it wasn't a conventional hotel, everything inside was complete and no worse than a hotel. However, compared to calling it a hotel, it was more appropriate to call it a guesthouse.

Bali was very suitable for vacation, so in the first few days the family had visited all the places worth seeing on the island.

Previously in Sri Lanka, Feng Yue hadn't been able to play to her heart's content because she was in a wheelchair, but this time in Bali she could finally release her nature.

After playing to their hearts' content on the island, they chartered a luxury yacht to go out to sea.

The day they went out to sea was the third-to-last day before their return home, and also one week before Feng Yue's death time in her previous life.

Jiang Yu and Feng He Hai played very happily, but Yan Lin became more anxious and worried each day. Feng Yue was the same as usual - she looked happy when with her parents, but would occasionally space out when alone or when alone with Yan Lin.

That night, after nightfall, when Yan Lin finished bathing and didn't see Feng Yue in the room, her heart tightened. She quickly changed clothes and went looking for her.

Only when she saw Feng Yue lying on a deck chair looking up at the starry sky on the deck did her heart suddenly relax.

Yan Lin steadied her mind, called out the other person's name, and walked over.

Only after Yan Lin lay down beside Feng Yue did Feng Yue speak lightly, "Yan Lin."

"Hmm?"

"Only seven days left."

Yan Lin's face went pale and her body stiffened. The issue they had always avoided talking about was thrown out so directly by Feng Yue.

Footnotes:

¹ "Risk their lives to accompany her" (舍命陪君子) - A Chinese idiom meaning to sacrifice everything to accompany someone, often used humorously to describe going to great lengths to keep someone company.

² Golden nanmu (金丝楠木) - A precious type of wood in China, historically used for imperial construction and considered extremely valuable. Prayer beads made from this wood are believed to have spiritual significance.

³ Solar prominences (日珥) - Large, bright features extending outward from the Sun's surface, often in a loop shape.

⁴ Houseboat - In this context, refers to a converted ship used as accommodation, popular in some Southeast Asian tourist destinations.